

May 1st Deadline on Junk Autos Creates New Saugerties Problems

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES

The May 1 deadline for disposal of junk cars in the Towns of Ulster and Saugerties has created an environmental problem in one of these towns and legal action is being considered to alleviate the situation.

The Town of Ulster program, instituted by the Committee on Visual Environment Beautification (COVEB) of Ulster Businessmen's Association, is progressing satisfactorily and hundreds of junk cars have already been removed from the Ruby junk car depot. Consolidated Metals of Newburgh has been hauling the abandoned cars out with car trailers for compaction at their Newburgh plant.

In Saugerties, some property owners who are trying to beat the deadline, are moving cars to empty lots or dumping them in quarry holes, some times without the property owner's permission and violation of the town's dumping law. Conviction of such violation could mean imposition of fines up to $100 for each violation.

A survey by The Freeman has revealed that three cars and old appliances have been deposited at the vacant lot by the Glenierie Falls on Route 9W. The county has a tax lien on this property and is expected to assume ownership in the near future.

Saugerties Town Police Chief Charles P. Riley has been investigating the matter to determine ownership of the cars. Chief Riley is making arrangements with the Town Highway Department to remove the junk cars to the Mower lot adjacent to the town highway barn on the Veteran Churchland Road where the Johnson 100 Car a Day Crusher Company of Corinth is operating this week.

Property owners with junk cars should contact Edward Mower of Veteran by phone and make arrangements to deliver the cars there before the crusher leaves the area. After the crusher moves out junk cars may still be delivered to Ray Ahl's junkyard at Asbury where they will be accepted if the radiator is still attached.

After May 1 summonses will be issued by the town police for violation of the junkyard ordinance in both townships.

Special

A dumping condition has been reported at a large quarry hole on the Bruce Dixon property at Glasco Turnpike and Fish Creek Road in High Woods. Several junk cars, refrigerators and other old appliances have been dumped in the quarry hole in clear view of the intersection. Town of Saugerties officials claim they are aware of the situation and that the property owner has promised to cover the debris with fill. However, there is some concern expressed by neighbors of the area who claim it would take a tremendous amount of fill to cover up the huge quarry hole and there is fear that the unsightly condition will not be alleviated. In the same area, a junk car was reported at the rear of the Viking Tavern.

By contrast the Town of Ulster program is apparently progressing without problems. Town Police Chief Norman Caunitz said cooperation has been "pretty good."

Town Police Justice Arthur A. Reilly said he apprehended a violator who was dumping a junk car last week and imposed a fine of $50 with the stipulation that the man remove the junk car to the Ruby junk car depot.

Chief Caunitz said he and his staff have been patrolling the town roads and advising landowners where abandoned cars are parked. There are two haulers that will remove junk cars to the Ruby depot for a fee. They are William Dachenhausen of Ruby and James Hodges garage of Route 9W, Lake Katrine. The property owners may make other arrangements with a hauler of their own choice, if they wish the chief said.

Town of Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino in his recent report of the removal program said hundreds of junk cars have already been removed by Consolidated Metals and it is the aim of town officials and the COVEB group to clean up all the junkers by the end of the month.

SAIGON (AP) — Leaders of the common enemy, which is North Vietnam, the Pathet Lao and the Viet Cong joined Prince Norodom Sihanouk today in a call for the defeat of the United States and the governments of Cambodia, South Vietnam and Laos.

Western diplomats in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said the North Vietnamese air force would fly Sihanouk to northeast Cambodia within a week to head a provisional government in Cambodian territory controlled by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The Viet Cong Radio said the deposed Cambodian chief of state met on the Vietnamese-Lao border with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong. Prince Sihanouk, leader of the Communist Pathet Lao movement in Laos, and Nguyen Huu Tho, head of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

The broadcast said the meeting "strongly condemned the U.S. imperialists invading Cambodia and the Lon Nol-Sirik Matka clique, which is giving Cambodia to the United States and massacring Khmers, Vietnamese and Chinese."

The four leaders appealed to all Indochinese people "to increase their unity and push ahead with the struggle against the common enemy, which is North Vietnam, the Pathet Lao and the Viet Cong joined Prince Norodom Sihanouk today in a call for the defeat of the United States and the governments of Cambodia, South Vietnam and Laos."

Two Airmen Killed in Thruway Crash

NEWBURGH

Two Air Force men stationed at Plattsburgh Air Force Base who were killed early today in a spectacular traffic accident on the State Thruway near the Plattekill service area in Orange County, were numbered among about 30 persons who lost their lives in New York State since Friday night.

In another area tragedy, a 17-year-old Highland Falls youth was reported missing and presumed drowned in the Hudson River off West Point Sunday afternoon after he was seen swimming some distance off shore.

Meanwhile, Sullivan County authorities reported an 80-year-old man took his life early yesterday by hanging in the cellar of his home.

Orange County officials also reported two other traffic deaths on highways in that area since Friday night.

State Police of Troop T identified the dead air force men as Airman Efrim E. Montes Jr., 20, of 39 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn, and Airman Michael D. Sheehan, 19, of 85 Lake Road, Valley Cottage.

A third man riding in the car was identified as Airman Pedro Lora Arriga, 21, of 2959 46th Street, Queens. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital here suffering a fracture of the left leg and multiple lacerations of the head and face. His condition was described as serious.

Troopers said Sheehan was the driver of the vehicle northbound when he lost control apparently from speed, and crashed into a pole in a deceleration lane leading to a service area off the superhighway near Plattekill.

Authorities noted that all three were in the Air Force and apparently were bound for Plattsburgh AFB when the accident occurred early today.

Dr. G. J. Sprague, Orange

County coroner, pronounced Montes and Sheehan dead at the scene of the crash.

Meanwhile, State Police reported the apparent victim of the drowning accident in the Hudson River was John Lloyd, Highland Falls.

The youth was seen by bystanders on the shore swimming and later he disappeared from sight and authorities were notified. Search of the shore revealed clothes believed to belong to the victim.

Police and airplanes from West Point conducted an aerial search but found no trace of the swimmer. Authorities said divers were not used because of the strong winds that whipped the surface of the river to rough waves and underwater search was considered dangerous.

The victim of the suicide was identified as William J. Fox of East Horton Road in the Sullivan County community of High View. Ferndale State Police said the man was found by his wife, Anna, hanging from a rafter in the cellar of their home early yesterday. Troopers described the man as despondent because of recent ill health.

Other sudden death victims recorded by Orange County authorities were Warren J. Canfield, 47, of Cornwall, who was killed in a fatal two-car crash on Route 9W near Newburgh; and Michael Conti, 80, also of Newburgh, who was killed when hit by a car as he stepped into the path of an oncoming car on Route 9W in that city.

Philip Cummings, 32, of that Orange County city, who was fatally injured in a two-car collision on the same highway.

$10,000 City Burglary, Two Other Places Hit

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Authorities throughout the area today united in an intensive investigation of a burglary at Hudela's Tailor establishment at 312 Clinton Avenue which netted clothes and a coin collection estimated at more than $10,000, according to Deputy Police Chief Julius Glassman.

Glassman also reported two other weekend burglaries in city business places during which bars of nickel and packs of beer were carted away.

According to the deputy chief, entry to Hudela's was gained by forcing a rear door which backs toward the uptown Kingston Shopping Plaza. It was theorized that the burglars made their getaway with the loot in a truck.

Stolen from the store were 200 suits and sport coats, a number of articles of clothing belonging to customers and a coin collection estimated to be valued at more than $2,000. Glassman reported that the amount of the loot would reach at least $10,800.

A shotgun also was missing from the tailor establishment. Whether the burglars made their escape from the Kingston Shopping Plaza area or from Clinton Avenue, has not been established. It was considered one of the major burglaries considering the amount taken to occur in the city in some time.

Another burglary was reported at the Utility Platers Inc. on Washington Avenue in Uptown Kingston. Glassman said entry apparently was gained through sliding doors on the side of the business place. Stolen from the plant were eight bars of nickel, the value of which has not been estimated. Both burglaries were discovered early Saturday when the businesses were opened, police said.

Meanwhile, police investigated a burglary at the Manos Market at 25 Broadway. The break-in was discovered Sunday morning when police were notified.

Officials said entry was gained by smashing a pane of glass in a window on the side of the lower Broadway building. Investigation disclosed that the burglars made off with 12 6-packs of beer.

The three weekend break-ins are under investigation by city police who have notified outside authorities.

New Rhinebeck Zoning Hearing

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
Rhinebeck Town Planning Board will hold its second public hearing on Zoning May 7 at the town hall, according to chairman Homer K. Staley. Staley expressed his hope that a larger turnout would be in evidence than at the last hearing. "We want a public reaction to the proposal," he maintained.

Among the questions raised at the first hearing was a suggestion that more commercial area be allowed north of the village, on the several hundred acres owned by Jenny Kennett. Attorney Thomas Frost represented her at the hearing, arguing that natural expansion would have the highway, Route 9, used for commercial and industrial reasons, rather than farm and residential as currently advocated by the Planning Board.

Staley's viewpoint was that planned 50-acre subdivisions should be used in order to keep growth orderly. He also has stated that he feels changes should be made after the zoning is passed, thereby allowing a public hearing on particular issues proposed for changes, instead of before the law is passed. The Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce, through its president Helen Z. Battistoni, has said that room for shopping centers should be allowed to keep business local. Mrs. Battistoni is the realtor involved with the possible development of 80 acres of the Kennett property on Route 9. Manufacturer Robert Fried of Staatsburg is seeking to find commercial enterprises willing to begin a shopping mall on the site, along what is locally known as "Astor Flats."

Paltz March For Needy

NEW PALTZ
Twenty-eight New Paltz area students are tired this morning so others will not be hungry. Students from New Paltz State University College, New Paltz High School and Middle School took part in a 15-mile Hunger Walk Sunday to raise money for the starving in India and the poverty stricken in Appalachia. The proceeds had not been totaled this morning. Sponsoring organizations had agreed to contribute according to miles walked and number participating and computations had not been completed for the entire march. The only non-student walker was Philip Schunk, president of the Highland-New Paltz Rotary Club who earned $325 for the cause through an incentive accelerated payment plan. A part of the national Hunger Walk observance, the local project was organized by two New Paltz College students, Vivian Liese of Yonkers and Joyce Lieberman of Hicksville. Funds will be distributed to the needy through the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation. The line of march started near the New Paltz campus and proceeded around the village in a circuitous circle to complete the 15 miles. Miss Lieberman stressed that the funds will be used to enable poor persons to help themselves rather than as mere food handouts. Support for the project came from town and village officials as well as college faculty and administration. Area service clubs were among the sponsoring organization committed to contributions for miles walked.

RVTA to Hear Candidates for Posts Wednesday

ACCORD
The Rondout Valley Teachers Association will sponsor a "Meet the Candidates" night on Wednesday, April 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Rondout Valley High School auditorium. Most of the eight candidates for the three positions to be filled this year on the district Board of Education will be present to give their views on education, their reasons for running and to answer questions. Franklin Kelder, supervisor of the Town of Rochester, will be the moderator. Candidates for the Board this year are Mrs. Eleanor Black of Kerhonkson, running unopposed to succeed herself; R. Douglas Taylor of Cottekill, Mrs. Anne Coler of Stone Ridge and Arthur E. Sprague of Binnewater, for the seat being vacated by Clarence Coogan of Binnewater; and for the place now held by Samuel Cohen of Kerhonkson, Cohen is running for reelection and is opposed by Samuel Kates of Kerhonkson. Mrs. Clara Margaret Booth of Kerhonkson and William H. Sass of Stone Ridge. All are for three year terms, from July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1973. The Teachers Association is sponsoring this program so that district residents who may be unable to attend either of the two informational meetings or the annual meeting will have another opportunity to "Meet the Candidates."

By WALTER S. CLARK
NEW PALTZ

Arrests involving dangerous drugs marked weekend activities for police authorities in Ulster and Columbia counties, who reported one incident resulted in the apprehension of four youths accused of bringing drugs to addicts in a rehabilitation center in an alleged attempt to close the place down.

Alertness Pays Off

In this village, Police Chief Nicholas Pape's alertness resulted in the arrest of 25-year-old Wilfred Cormier, who has no permanent address here since coming to this area from Connecticut. The man was booked for criminal possession of dangerous drugs fourth degree.

Pape reported he was on patrol on Main Street at 3:45 p.m. Sunday when he noticed the man, later identified as Cormier, squeezing his way through a narrow alleyway between two business buildings. Pape stood across the street and watched as the man removed an object from his pocket and put it in a freshly dug hole.

After the man left, Pape made his way around the buildings to the rear. He removed the dirt and picked up the object he described as 31 decks of heroin worth more than $200 and a little more than a quarter of a pound of hashish.

Hearing May 4

The chief went looking for the man and later came upon him on Main Street. He took Cormier in custody and arraigned him before Town Justice Rexford Schneider. Cormier, who is not a student, was committed to the county jail in lieu of $2,000 pending a hearing on May 4.

In the Columbia County case,

Jack Palmer, head of the Kingston Hall Narcotics Rehabilitation Center at Hillsdale, said the four youths taken into custody or narcotics counts "wanted to sabotage" the privately run program. He alleged that a staff member last week discovered a plan to either get residents to revert to drug use or to bring in drugs and then tip off authorities.

"Drug users often have the spiritual belief that everyone should be set free through the use of drugs," Palmer was quoted.

With the arrest by State Police, a quantity of mescaline was confiscated when the troopers conducted the investigation Saturday night at the center.

Police identified those arrested at Hillsdale as Nancy Myers, 18, of New York City; John Bevans, 18, of West Cornwall, Conn.; and William Scheckley, 18, and Michael Buccino, 17, both of Falls Village, Conn.

Authorities at the center, however, identified the girl as Nancy Meise, 22, one of the first residents at Kinsman Center when it opened in September, 1968.

Buccino and Bevans were charged with second degree criminal sale of dangerous drugs, a felony. They were ordered held in the county jail in Hudson in $1,000 bail. Bevans was also charged with illegal possession of fireworks.

Miss Myers and Scheckley were held on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs, fifth degree. Both were committed in lieu of $500 bail each.

Drugs in Car

Meanwhile, Kingston State Police reported the arrest of two youths on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs. Trooper Joseph Mikesch of the zone headquarters at Lake Katrine took Robert McCarthy, 18, of the Bronx, and John Bennett, 20, of Staten Island, into custody during a routine car-check on Route 28 in the Town of Ulster.

Mikesch said he found the youths in possession of a quantity of marijuana and LSD tablets.

Arraigned before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan, both accused youths pleaded guilty and each was fined $50.

Ellenville Arrests

Meanwhile, Ellenville State Police in a routine check early Sunday in that village, arrested two young men on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs in the fourth degree and possessing a pipe capable of administering narcotic drugs.

Troopers said they seized a quantity of marijuana and the implement.

Arrested by Troopers D. H. Dymond and J. J. Schetzel were Franklin Orlando Cortes and 18-year-old Jacob Cohen, both of Newark, N.J. They were arraigned before Ellenville Police Justice Ronald W. Elias and committed to the county jail in lieu of $750 pending a hearing on Tuesday.

Woodstock Ecology (WE) Forms Several Groups

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK — Many weeks before Earth Day with its emphasis on terracide captured the imagination of the country, a large segment of Woodstock's younger generation organized a group concerned with the same issue on a local level.

Calling themselves Woodstock Ecology (WE), they began with a series of private meetings; eventually managed to draw a crowd of more than 400 to Town Hall for a mass discussion meeting. That session at least served to put them on record as being concerned with many of Woodstock's present problems and any possible problems that loom in the future.

In an effort to gain further cooperation from the community at large, WE has formed several committees to delve into specific issues.

Who Will Take Campers?

One committee will devote itself to Land and Housing, in an effort to keep Woodstock's existing trespass ordinance from being invoked more than necessary. On the theory that trespassing occurs when there is too little room for people to live and play, the land committee has been formed by Woodstock residents who are concerned about visitors being drawn to Woodstock in the summer; arriving with no place to stay. In the knowledge that other resort communities have solved this problem, WE is asking those with enough land to accommodate one, two, or more campers, to offer such sites in order to give people other space besides the streets in which to stay. Those interested in offering such accommodations should call 679-9668.

WE has also formed a garbage committee and, as a start, several groups have organized to collect refuse along Woodstock streets and roads. The aim, of course, is to change individual attitudes to their home environment. A somewhat similar Woodstock group, called Living in a Fulfilled Environment (LIFE), organized a litter drive last weekend: collected six truck loads of garbage in four hours. The actions of WE and LIFE, and that of the town board in replacing wastebaskets in the art colony's business area, are being hailed by the ecology-minded as examples of an attitude-change necessary to stem pollution.

Another WE committee is its medical branch, organized in the knowledge that medical facilities for Woodstock's population are "acutely inadequate" in all seasons; will become more so during the summer. The medical committee hopes to open a clinic to handle medical emergencies and drug abuse problems. WE feels, its spokesmen say, that drug abuse is a social-medical problem that requires a non-punitive, supportive environment staffed with clergymen and doctors. The group has already consulted with various doctors and nurses; say they have promised to volunteer their time and to help find space for the clinic. Simulacra, a local firm specializing in first aid equipment and techniques, has offered to train people in Red Cross approved first aid assistance.

Also formed has been a Legal Committee, to operate as a medical branch, organized in the knowledge that medical facilities for Woodstock's counseling of any kind, whether they can afford attorney fees or not. The clinic will be open every Monday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning May 4; may be contacted by calling 679-6015.

Community Ecology Action

An ecology action group has also been organized to identify sources of pollution, generate public awareness of the causes and effects of obsolete pollutants, and involve the community in a search for positive alternatives.

A final committee is concerned with communications; is designed to "sustain effective communications" between active groups and the not-yet-involved Woodstock residents.

What it all means, maintains WE, is that WE is YOU. "You are the problem and you are the solution," Woodstock Ecology members say. They feel strongly that anyone who lives in or around Woodstock is already a "vital participant" in Woodstock Ecology. Simply because any man's life-space is his own responsibility, and the quality of our survival depends upon everyone being aware of this fact.

Today's polluted streams, they say, may spawn an epidemic of infectious hepatitis tomorrow; destroy the plant and animal life upon which we depend for survival.

July 4th Atmosphere

Patriotic Day in Beantown, U.S.A.

'WAKE UP AMERICA' — Framed by a Marine Color Guard (L) comedian Bob Hope (R) salutes during the playing of the National Anthem held at Boston's City Hall plaza Sunday when some 20,000 persons gathered for a "Wake Up America" rally. A gala parade featuring patriotic music and fire-and-drum corps, was held prior to the rally. Hope told the rally "this is what the kids in Vietnam are fighting for." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

BOSTON (UPI)—A Fourth of July atmosphere pervaded Boston's new City Hall Plaza Sunday as 20,000 persons gathered to hear Bob Hope and other celebrities urge them to "wake up America."

The well-dressed, clean shaven crowd waved American flags and listened to patriotic music from brass bands and fire-and-drum corps as they expressed their faith and hope in the country's values and traditions.

Bob Hope, the comedian billed as America's ambassador to the world, told the crowd, "This is what the kids in Vietnam are fighting for—our privilege to do this."

Only a handful of dissidents could be heard, and they too were good-natured. Hope responded to their occasional heckling by quipping, "That's quite an echo I'm getting."

"Ninety eight per cent of the people think the way you all do," Hope told the crowd whose ranks were swelled because of beautiful sunny weather with temperatures in the 70s.

He was answered by sporadic shouts of "Hurray" and "Tell 'em Bob."

Hope was joined on the rostrum by cartoonist Al Capp, fullback Jim Nance of the Boston Patriots and Navy football great Joe Bellino.

The comedian called a moratorium on his usual jibes at political leaders. "Spiro Agnew said a lot of things that have to be said," he told the crowd. "A lot of our people are disillusioned."

The rally was preceded by a parade around Boston Common. Participants ran the gamut from the Boy Scouts to the well-trained parade horses of the Massachusetts National Lancers.

Arthur Stivaletta, a 34-year-old contractor from Dedham who organized the event, said the turnout was "unbelievable," adding "I was surprised myself."

Didn't Know He Was Dead—Writer on Gridder's Death

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—"I suburban Lafayette when he didn't know he was dead or who he was until I read it in the paper," the writer said.

The writer, who said he was the motorist who ran over the fallen body of Oakland Raiders football veteran Roger Hagberg on April 15, said he'd turn himself into authorities if he were assured of help for his drinking problem.

Hagberg, 31, was killed near try to work out anything we can to help him," said Capt. Paul Latours of the California Highway Patrol.

"We can't offer any guarantee at this time without first talking to him and ascertaining all the facts," the Tribune published the text of the unsigned letter.

"I was driving the car that hit Mr. Hagberg last week."

didn't know he was dead or who he was until I read it in the paper.

"I know I shouldn't have driven away but I was drinking and I know I would have ended up in jail."

"I have a chronic drinking problem and would give anything to solve it. If the police will guarantee me help I will turn myself in. I'm sorry for what has happened (sic). I have prayed for the man's family. I'm sorry."

Hagberg, who left a widow and two young daughters, played five years for the Raiders as a running back and tight end. The 6-1, 215-pounder came to Oakland after four seasons of pro football in Canada and three outstanding years at the University of Minnesota.

New Dem Coalition Endorses Samuels

NEW YORK (AP) —The New Democratic Coalition has endorsed Howard J. Samuels for Governor.

Samuels' first-ballot victory at a special Sunday delegate assembly of the NDC gives him organized support useful in his drive to collect 10,000 signatures of enrolled Democrats to get on the primary ballot.

"This endorsement means five to ten thousand enthusiastic campaign workers," Samuels told the gathering of liberals and reformers, "and in a primary that's what counts."

Samuels received 60.2 per cent of the vote, 0.2 more than the minimum requirement—after a recount demanded by supporters of Arthur J. Goldberg, choice of the Democratic State Committee.

In the original count, Samuels got 60.3 per cent, Goldberg 24 per cent, and Robert M. Morgenthau 2.4 per cent. The recount, in which certain ballots were disallowed, Samuels dropped 0.1 per cent, Goldberg 0.1 per cent and Morgenthau remained the same.

The vote for no endorsement was 13.5 per cent. All three candidates appeared at the assembly.

After the vote, Samuels told the group "Mr. Goldberg has the machine, but he doesn't have the enthusiasm."

Samuels repeatedly has termed Goldberg "the machine candidate."

"Goldberg is still the front runner," Samuels conceded, but "we are now a viable fighting opponent."

Before the vote, Goldberg had made a plea for party unity. "We can win only if we work together," he said.

The Earth Day Activists—A Warning to the Politicos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earth Day activists, encouraged by the public's reaction to their campaign to clean up poisoned waters and smoggy skies, have warned politicians to take strong action against environmental despoilers or face election defeat.

The small band of college-age students who organized Earth Day "are vowing political action in November against those in government who do not match their rhetoric with action," said Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif.

"I think that 75 to 80 per cent of the candidates running this year will have the environment as a significant part of their campaigns," predicted Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who first proposed last Wednesday's demonstrations for a healthier environment.

On the morning after Earth Day, national coordinator Denis Hayes began scouring the country—Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and other major cities—for money and manpower. Most of Earth Day's ad hoc staff in Washington has evaporated, leaving only seven or eight incorporated under the name "Environmental Action."

But they viewed this as only a temporary slump. Hayes, interviewed by telephone in California, said he was getting a "reasonably good response" on his tour and was impressed "with the dedication of the local groups to continue."

Charter Ready for Legislature

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Ulster County's proposed charter, just completed after about two-and one-half years study and work, will be presented to the County Legislature at its May meeting, according to Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., Charter Commission chairman.

If the Legislature, after study, is sympathetic with the report, the proposal will go before the voters in the Nov. 3 election.

The document, as written, provides for an executive form of government with a county executive, elected by all the voters of the county for a four-year term.

The charter, as now conceived has reportedly been under scrutiny by a number of members of the Ulster County Bar Association and is reportedly favored by those who have read it. It has also been reportedly given the stamp of approval by the Ulster County League of Women Voters which has kept close tabs on the many facets of the charter as they evolved.

The Commission has held its "final" meeting before the presentation to the Legislature and is awaiting arrival of the document from county consultants, Hanawalt Associates, who have been putting the finishing touches to a few and minor last minute revisions.

The product of a 17-member commission whose members include four lawyers, the charter was hammered out in partnership with the public through the means of public hearings that were held throughout the county.

Ingalsbe indicated today that more public hearings will be held this summer and that the Legislature would have to formally propose the charter 60 days before the general election.

In order to be adopted the charter must be approved by a majority of the voters within the city and by a majority of voters in the county outside the city.

Aiming for greater efficiency in government, the charter includes increased fiscal responsibilities, with an elected controller and appointed commissioner of finance.

A Department of General Administration is included to eliminate duplication in many areas and a Department of Public Works with broader responsibilities than the present Highway Department is envisioned.

Under the new proposal, the County Legislature would remain much as it is, subject to reapportionment after each federal census as provided by state law. The coroner system would be retained and refined.

Although the commission has had at its disposal and has made use of outside studies and charters of other counties, it determined early in its deliberations to "make this the best possible charter to meet the specific requirements of Ulster County and its residents," according to Ingalsbe.

This aim led to a study not just of "model" charters, but of existing conditions and needs in Ulster County and an awareness of the opinions and attitudes of all its residents. Department heads and employees were interviewed, civic leaders and others consulted.

Community Concerts

The Kingston area is particularly fortunate to have the Community Concert Association of Kingston, which for 40 years has been responsible for bringing outstanding musical programs into the community. We salute the Association on the occasion of its annual membership campaign.

This enthusiastic and able group has worked diligently and competently to provide the area with the finest musical attractions from the entire country at an astonishingly reasonable price. The roster of great names appearing here through the auspices of Community Concerts reads like a "Who's Who in Music in America."

The 1970-71 concert season will include the New Orleans Symphony with Regis Pasquier, violinist; the Columbia Operatic Trio and Spain's royal family of the guitar, the Romero.

The Community Concert Association now is conducting its membership campaign for the upcoming series of concerts. Unbelievable but true, Community Concert has neither raised its prices nor lowered its standard. A very real accomplishment.

This is Community Concert Week in the Kingston area and we take this opportunity to urge support of the Kingston Community Concert Association membership drive. All area residents, who are music lovers or just interested in maintaining a high level of cultural entertainment in the local area, should subscribe. It is through the efforts and support of area residents that all can enjoy the great music performed by these distinguished artists.

No Room for Doubt

There is no room for doubt as to United States intentions in Vietnam since President Nixon announced he will pull out 150,000 more troops in the coming year. Saigon is on notice that we believe her troops will be able to take over almost all the ground combat action within a year. Hanoi is on notice that the American systematic disengagement will continue at about the same rate of 12,000 a month for the next 12 months.

What gain does the President see in making such a longrange commitment? For one thing, Hanoi now knows that the United States presence will be considerably reduced within a year, that we believe that South Vietnam will be strong enough to resist all Communist aggression, and that if Hanoi wants peace in which we would have a moderating voice, she had better begin to move toward peace now. After that, the bitterness of a fratricidal war between ethnic brothers might stand in the way of terms that now could be acceptable.

President Nixon hinted at this when he said in his address to the nation: "A fair political solution should reflect the existing relationship of political forces. We recognize the complexity of shaping machinery that would fairly apportion political power in South Vietnam. We are flexible; we have offered nothing on a take-it-or-leave-it basis."

With this conciliatory note, the President warned Hanoi, "We will not agree to the arrogant demand that the present Saigon government be tossed aside before negotiations begin. We shall not be defeated in Vietnam. We would not hesitate to strike back if Hanoi jeopardizes our remaining forces by increased action."

There it is. Deal with us, and you would get a fair political settlement. Wait and you will have to deal with a much stronger Vietnam. Heed it or not, Mr. Nixon has set the stage for disengagement.

Scrap Heap Bonanza

That's gold in them hills—or mountains, rather—of trash Americans create every year. Literally.

According to Chemical Engineering News, military electronic scrap averages about 5.5 ounces of gold per ton, which is immensely higher than the gold content of ocean water and a lot more practical to recover.

But even ordinary household refuse could yield up to 10 million tons of iron a year and one million tons of other metals if all municipal incinerators utilized the devices and techniques that now exist, or are being developed, to separate salvageable materials from mixed wastes.

It will be exceedingly expensive to equip every community in the country with the technology to "mine" our man-made mountains.

Eventually it will be too expensive not to.

Four of five suspects of a group of radicals charged with bombing six office buildings in New York last fall have been apprehended. The fifth member is a girl who has never been found. Recent bombings have increased interest in the alleged conspiracy. These malfactors should pay the full penalty.

The growing return to school prayers is a definite trend. Faced with a request for an injunction to stop voluntary prayers, the Leyden, Mass., school board said prayers benefit the children and are permitted by the clause in the First Amendment protecting the "free exercise" of religion. That should give the Supreme Court something to think about.

New Version

David Lawrence Says Smaller States Would Oppose Direct Election

WASHINGTON — While the Senate Judiciary Committee has recommended an amendment to the Constitution to abolish the electoral college and provide for direct, popular election for the presidency, and the House has already endorsed such an amendment, there is no certainty that even if the measure gets through the Senate it will ever be adopted by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

The states with relatively small populations are not likely to give up the power they wield today through a combination of electoral votes. For once the electoral college is abandoned and more numbers of individual ballots cast at the polls are to be counted, the smaller states would have less voice in the final selection of a president than they have ever had.

The theory behind the electoral college was that each state was a unit which casts its electoral votes on the basis of what a majority within each such territory desired. But if popular vote alone is to be the key, many a presidential election would be decided by a few states in the east, and it wouldn't matter how the west or the south or even some areas in the middle west would be voting.

Under the electoral system, a heavy majority in New York State, for example, would merely influence the choice of electors for one party or the other in that state. But if a popular election were held nationally, the number of votes cast in the populous states would be added together and a total vote soon would be reached giving a majority to a candidate without the need for much support from the less populous states. It would be quite possible for the people in about a dozen states to elect a president.

Under such circumstances, why should the legislatures of 38 states — which will be required for the ratification of a direct-election plan — vote for one when any amendment is submitted to them for adoption? This is the question which has been asked again and again. Advocates of the popular-election doctrine have insisted nevertheless in putting the proposal through Congress, trusting that they can somehow persuade the state legislatures to change their minds later.

There have been several plans proposed whereby the popular vote of a state would be split so that the entire number of a state's electoral votes would not be given to a single candidate who got a majority or a plurality. In the case of New York State, for instance, which has 43 electoral votes, the new theory is that they might be split almost in half between two parties in a close election and that this would be a much fairer way than for all to go to one candidate. This, it is claimed, would enable a nominee to pick up a minority electoral vote in many states which is denied him under the present system.

But whatever changes are proposed, it seems certain that the smaller states are not likely to agree to give up the influence which they have exercised under the electoral-college plan.

There are, of course, many defects in the present system. In some of the big states, a few large cities which are controlled by bosses or political organizations with considerable funds at their disposal are in a position to win the total electoral vote of the state merely by getting a majority by mobilizing the votes in the cities.

The important thing is that the present electoral system, with all its disadvantages in the large states, nevertheless does permit the smaller states of the union to have their say collectively in presidential elections. President Nixon was able to win election in 1968 without carrying the 43 electoral votes of New York State or Pennsylvania's 29, but in many states he won the total electoral vote by a plurality of the popular vote rather than a majority because the independent vote cast for George Wallace took away votes from the Democratic ticket.

The confusion caused by the three-way race in 1968 was largely responsible for the reawakening of interest in a possible revision of the Constitution to permit a direct, popular election for the presidency. The subject has been discussed many times in the last 180 years, but it has never gone as far as it has this year in Congress. Any change still faces, however, a big obstacle in the state legislatures.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Every political fetish runs its course and dies eventually. We hear little of the Burn, Baby Burn philosophy of black extremists. The country stands a fair chance of enjoying a long, cool summer. The extremist Black Panthers are chewing their own bullets; the Ku Klux Klan, at the opposite pole, no longer frightens southern Negroes with night rides.

A pall of quiet unease is on the land. Martin Luther King has been dead two years. His name, once exciting in Birmingham and Selma, is heard only in Memoriam. This Southern Baptist preacher, taken before his time, was aware more than anyone else that violence burns itself to death. He chose non-violence, not because he believed that the meek shall inherit the earth, but because Whitey had all the soldiers, policemen and ammunition.

For 15 years, starting with the time Rosa Parks sat in the front part of a Montgomery, Alabama, bus, this rich country has been convulsed with intestinal fire. The result, ironically, is that the white Establishment in Washington has played the Negro like a pawn in a chess game, and the frustrated black has fallen into the hands of white extremists by denouncing a communion of the races in favor of an apartheid.

In retrospect, it is plain that nothing was as it seemed to be. Of the 22,000,000 disenfranchised, less than a half million felt sufficiently militant to do anything about the situation. The remainder, ranging from the Black Jesus philosophy of King to the hate-and-kill credo of Eldridge Cleaver, were split into at least five unforgiving factions, including CORE, SCLC, SNCC, NAACP and PAN-THERS.

The whites, for a time, assumed that the blacks were unified. At one stage, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr. opposed the policies of his son. Black magazines like JET and TAN found themselves frustrated trying to report in depth a Black Movement for freedom which had been dissipated in several directions.

Now were the whites unified. President Lyndon Johnson pressed for a Civil Rights bill in 1965, and got it. However, the more he cultivated Martin Luther King, the more King moved away to criticize the war in Vietnam. This led to an estrangement which was never repaired.

The Kennedys used the means of making heroes of themselves to the blacks. They sent U.S. marshals into the marching areas of the South, but when the T.V. camera men went home, Southern cities settled back to their own way of life listening to impotent protests from the local blacks.

Mr. Nixon flirts outrageously with the white South, and slows the progress of Civil Rights with "benign neglect." At the same time, the Federal Courts, which are not under his thumb, desegregate school districts one by one to the point of absurdity. The President speaks benevolently to a South convulsed with pain; the courts cancel his good wishes.

As a lawyer, he must have known all along that the dicta of the Supreme Court would prevail over his courtly benevolence. If so, the white man speaks with forked tongue. If not, his advisors have insulated him from the people. The black man has more freedom than ever, but it isn't equality — and this is his aspiration. America can put a Negro on the Supreme Court, seduce black leaders with White House conferences and boat rides down the Potomac, hire a token Negro for every television commercial, and the great mass of Negroes — inert, uncomplaining — watch it all from the home-sweet-home filth of the ghettos.

Nor is the black his own best friend. When his growing boys break liquor store windows, pack guns, and set fire to his slums, they kill rats, not people. The 1965 decision of SNCC to exclude liberal whites from the marches was, in my estimation, a good one. The sugary condescension of the white liberal is insufferable. He bends to embrace.

If our 22,000,000 Negroes are ever to become "equal" in our snobbish society, they are going to have to do it by lifting all their people from the quicksands of neglect, and make them as responsible spiritually, mentally, and physically as the whites. In many cases, that's not a long haul.

Bigotry is the narcotic of the failure. We will always have some of it — both ways. The marches had their time and achieved their purpose. We are now in the era of activist committees and if Richard Nixon appointed an all-black committee of the leaders of all factions, they just might come up with recommendations which would be palatable to the rest of the country.

It is going to be done someday. Why not now?

Jack Anderson Says Humphrey Is Unable to Raise Money for Political Comeback

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey, who wound up his 1968 presidential campaign $9 million in the hole, has been unable to raise money for a political comeback.

He has told aides unhappily that he may have to give up his hope of returning to the Senate unless somehow he can scrape up at least $750,000 to finance his campaign. The Republicans have already raised over $1 million for Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who has been appointed by President Nixon to oppose Humphrey.

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, have appealed to Humphrey to devote all his energies to paying off the whopping 1968 debt. He has obediently made pitches at fund-raising affairs and has tapped his own financial sources for every dollar he could beg or borrow.

Most of his big contributors have signed bank notes that haven't been paid off, thus leaving them liable for the debt.

Now poor Humphrey is going back to these same sources for more money to subsidize his Senate campaign. In the smoke-filled back rooms where the politicians and their financial backers hold their hushed huddles, Humphrey has become as popular as a skunk at a picnic.

He had hoped to raise a large share of his campaign needs in New York City, where most of the big Democratic donors abound. After one awkward postponement, a gathering of the fat cats has now been arranged.

But movie mogul Arthur Krim, the Democratic sugar daddy, urgently appealed to Humphrey not to ask them for money. He warned that they were simply in no mood to be hit up for more contributions, and he advised Humphrey to confine himself to thanking them for past generosity.

The hapless Humphrey has been obliged to agree, therefore, to open his Senate fund-raising drive by NOT asking his chief financial backers for any money. Outside of New York financial circles, his approaches to other donors have also encountered the same lack of enthusiasm.

More American Casualties

Hanoi has called upon its forces in South Vietnam, according to monitored messages, to keep the American casualty rate above 100 a week.

The North Vietnamese leaders, apparently, have the notion that a higher casualty rate would be politically intolerable in the United States. It is true that President Nixon has sought to keep the number of Americans killed in action below the 100 level.

The communists, therefore, have been ordered to step up their attacks upon U.S. positions with the objective of killing more than 100 Americans a week. Presumably, Hanoi believes this will increase the pressure upon President Nixon to speed the American withdrawal from South Vietnam.

Footnote: Secretary of Defense Mel Laird has advised the President that it will take something drastic to spur the South Vietnamese government into making meaningful reforms. Laird would like to pull out enough American troops to alarm the Saigon leadership without actually endangering South Vietnam. This may be the only way, he has suggested, that President Thieu can be pressured into shaking up his military command. Only one-third of the South Vietnamese field commanders, in Laird's view, can be called adequate.

Microwaves Cause Cataracts

At least 40 cases of cataracts have been caused by insidious microwave radiation from high-powered radar equipment, raising fears that similar dangers exist in microwave ovens.

The Health, Education, and Welfare Department, in a private letter to Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., has conceded that radar has caused eye cataracts, and that microwave ovens are under intense scrutiny.

"Nine of the ovens (surveyed) were found to emit microwave radiation in a range of energy densities where eye effects begin to appear among experimental animals," HEW told the Senator.

It is worth noting that the same HEW pooh-poohed this column's earlier reports that microwave ovens may pose a threat to eyes under certain conditions.

Another Oil Windfall

The General Accounting Office has been asked by Senator Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to find a way to stop the oil and gas industry from leasing public land at windfall rates.

The GAO turned up $25 million in losses to the taxpayers in only two states, Montana and New Mexico. Non-competitive bidding for the leases on rich oil and gas deposits beneath federal land made the bonanzas possible.

All told, there are leases out in 25 states involving a grand total of 13.4 million acres of public property. Of the 15,254 oil and gas leases studied by GAO so far, 14,962 were non-competitive.

Metcalf, a member of the Senate Interior Committee, has quietly asked GAO to take another look at the whole lease picture and to draft a bill that would bring the lease payments more in line with the real worth of the oil and gas.

Cuts in Space Program Won't Solve Earth's Ills

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The biggest cop-out in town

— not to mention elsewhere in the country — is the notion that if the space program were somehow cut to the bone

we could be spending the money "more usefully" to solve the nation's urban and other social ills.

In the first place, neither the space program nor the immensely more costly

Vietnam war prevented a huge, steady rise in government outlays for education, welfare, Social Security and health (mostly for the aged) in the decade of the 1960s.

In the second, and I have examined this matter in terms of detailed figures before, there is no convincing evidence in U. S. history that when war or some other extraordinary event (like the leap to the moon) ends,

Congress simply goes on spending the same total sums but reallocates the "extra" appropriations to "more fruitful" domestic uses.

In the third place, every sensible indicator we have shows that outlays for education, health, etc., are going to continue rising as both population and people's expectation rise. Right now committees in both houses are fretting furiously over the incredible costs of the Medicare-Medicaid programs.

Cities are frantic in their quest for welfare funds. They want to pass to the states the entire burden of education except that portion borne by the federal government.

Anybody with a pencil and a little hard confrontation with these prospects can understand very quickly that if the space program never got another dime and the war's expense began tapering off sharply toward zero

tomorrow, all the moneys saved would be speedily swept up in this almost uncontrollable upward spiral of social costs.

Now some of this is inevitable. People cost money.

And we are boosting our numbers every day. Unless we are seriously prepared to act to control population growth, at least some portion of the concern being widely expressed over our social problems is pure hypocrisy.

some of the more astute politicians have been coming to realize that money alone is not the great cure.

Where in the world have these people been who keep hollering about allocating war and space savings to "rebuild the cities" and accomplish a long list of other critical social tasks?

The most cogent debate that has been raging in this country for at least the last year starts from the demonstrable premise that the great money allocations — particularly for welfare but also for some portions of the housing and education tasks — have been substantial failures.

I heard not just conservative Republicans but one-time liberal firebrands like Hubert Humphrey talking this game as long as five years ago. Everybody in this town who has his head screwed on right knows these men are dwelling on the hard realities.

What we need to deal with the problems of the ghetto, of racial strife, of suburban

Cluster of 8 Satellites in Soviet Launch

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today announced the launching of eight unmanned satellites on a single carrier rocket—the largest experiment reported in the Cosmos program.

An official announcement gave no clue to the purpose of the complex space shot.

The spacecraft, numbered Cosmos 336 through Cosmos 343, were launched Saturday and were "equipped with scientific apparatus designated for space research," the announcement said.

"The equipment aboard the satellites is functioning normally," it added.

There was no indication whether further information would be released on the experiment. Normally launchings in the Cosmos program are announced only in the most general terms, and no details of their work is revealed.

Fine Imposed On Shoplifting At Local Store

TOWN OF ULSTER

A 23-year-old man went shopping at the Big Scot Discount Department store on Route 28 Saturday night at about 8:35 o'clock and allegedly took a pair of men's pants.

Security Officer Herbert O'Brien said David P. Duffy of Ulster Avenue, allegedly took the pants to a dressing room and put one pair under the pants he was wearing. He was subsequently picked up by O'Brien on a charge of petit larceny accused of taking a pair of pants valued at $8.99.

O'Brien and State Trooper D. J. Pitcher arraigned Duffy before Hurley Town Justice Alton E. Boyce. The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $15 or 10 days in the county jail. He was held until the fine was paid.

Increased Violence Foreseen in Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The worst may be yet to come "in terms of violence" on college campuses, according to a report prepared for college and university administrators.

Sol M. Linowitz, chairman of a special three-member committee on campus tension of the American Council on Education (ACE), which released its findings Saturday, said "we may be running into some heavier weather than we have encountered in the past."

"Part of that is the increasing alienation," Linowitz said, "and part of that is simply because some young people on campuses now feel if they want to get attention they're going to have to turn to violence."

The report concluded that because of social malaise, dissident faculty and "provocative pronouncements" by politicians, violence is still going to be a problem on college campuses.

Dr. Robben Fleming, president of the University of Michigan, said, "we're not through this by any means... and I don't see it stopping, as some people do. I think it is closely associated with these problems of a larger society."

Patrick Shea, President of the Associated Students at Stanford University and a member of the committee, said, "as our committee report recognized, there is change when there is violence. There is change when there's confrontation and I think that's going to remain the case in the future."

He said "most certainly" campus protest can become more violent "because it's becoming a smaller group and it's becoming more hard-core."

The three men were interviewed on the television program, Meet the Press—NBC.

Fireman Felled In Highland

HIGHLAND

A Highland fireman was treated for smoke inhalation suffered Saturday fighting a blaze at the Anthony Moschetto home on Brusher Blvd., here. Fireman Stephen DeMare was taken to Vassar Hospital.

Fire Chief Joseph Valentino reported extensive damage to the building and said the cause of the fire is unknown.

Fire companies in Ulster and Dutchess County were kept busy all weekend fighting grass and brush fires. Dutchess reports 16 calls and Ulster Mutual Aid reports grass fires in Highland. Ruby and New Paltz Saturday. On Sunday they fought brush blazes in Big Indian, Allgierville, Clintondale and New Paltz.

Today they were called out to Plattkill at 9:11 a. m.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Eleanor Hoffman

Mrs. Eleanor Hoffman of Rocky Hill Road, New Paltz, died suddenly in Kingston Saturday. A former resident of Springtown Road, she was the daughter of the late Frederick and Antoinette Popp. Her husband, John Hoffman, died in 1963. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Joanne Bauer of Pensacola, Fla. and Mrs. Cheryl Purcell of Kingston; also two grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main Street, Rosendale, Thursday at 11 a. m. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Several Cited During Weekend On MV Charges

KINGSTON
Police cited several motorists over the weekend for vehicle and traffic violations including James P. Gallo, 33, of 154 Fair Street, who was summoned for no inspection sticker, unlicensed operation and having no registration.

George E. Kelly, 21, of Newburgh, was charged with driving a motor vehicle with an inadequate muffler. Gene Anthony Kithcart, 24, of Rondout Garden Apartments, was summoned for passing two red traffic lights.

Philip A. Koch, 18, of RFD 6, Box 546, Kingston, was accused of driving a car with no valid inspection sticker.

VD Decreases

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The incidence of syphilis in upstate New York is at its lowest point since the state started keeping records in 1920, State Health Commissioner, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham has announced.

The number of cases reported in 1969 was 1,293, excluding New York City figures. Last year's total was 1,706.

The high for recorded syphilis cases was 18,381 in 1936, when the upstate population was five million fewer than today.

Commissioner Ingraham attributed the decrease to an active state control program.

Sixth President

ONEONTA, N. Y. (AP) — Hartwick College will inaugurate its sixth president in ceremonies at the Oyaron campus on April 29th.

Dr. Adolph G. Anderson, formerly dean of Hofstra University's New College, will be installed as president of the 42-year-old college.

Series of conferences and workshops on philosophies and aspirations for higher education in the liberal arts will follow the inaugural and last through commencement in June.

Plans Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced plans for a national antipollution conference in Washington Sept. 29 through Oct. 2.

Hickel said more than 3,000 industry, education and government leaders will be invited to attend in an effort to carry out President Nixon's plea for "a total mobilization" to clean up the environment.

Abortion Proponent Faces Primary Vote

AUBURN, N.Y. (UPI)—The assemblyman who cast the deciding vote in favor of New York State's abortion reform faces his district's voters in the June 23 primary after being rejected by one of his two county committees.

Assemblyman George M. Michaels, D-Auburn, announced Sunday he would challenge John Rossi, the choice of the Cayuga County Democratic committee. Michaels' home county party organization picked Rossi last week because members objected to the assemblyman's last minute switch of his vote on abortion.

Michaels will be on the ballot as candidate of the Cortland County Democratic committee—the party unit in the smaller of the two counties comprising the 122nd Assembly District.

On April 9, abortion reform appeared doomed by one vote, when Michaels arose after roll call in the Assembly and requested time to speak.

"The act I take here may terminate my political career. But I say what is the use of getting elected if you don't stand for something," Michaels said. He then changed his vote to "Yes" and the reform passed.

Michaels vowed Sunday to wage a vigorous campaign "to insure that each of the voters in Cortland and Cayuga counties will have the right to review the accomplishments and the record" of the candidate. Michaels said he believed "the people will realize that this is not a single-issue campaign, that we do not live in a single-issue age."

Sought 3 Years For Desertion From Service

KINGSTON—Richard Thomas Comerford, 23, of RD 2 Box 377, Kingston, was arrested Sunday by Ulster County Sheriff's Department on a charge of desertion from military service.

According to the department report, Comerford, who was arrested in Woodstock, has been wanted by military authorities for three years.

He was committed to Ulster County Jail to await arrival of the military authorities.

Burning Permits Are Required

PORT EWEN—Port Ewen Fire Chief Clark Mains today reminded all residents of Port Ewen Fire District that a burning permit is required for any type of open burning.

No permit is required when burning in a closed container such as a wire-mesh incinerator or barrel. These permits are available at Port Ewen Firehouse on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m., and are issued by Deputy Fire Marshals James Ellsworth, Robert Graney or Chief Mains.

On Account

In an advertisement for Ulster County Savings Bank, 280 Wall Street, appearing in Saturday's Tempo section should have read "a regular account or a custodial account both at 5 per cent compounded daily that's 5.13 per cent."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened weak in moderate turnover today.

Declines have outscored advances for 17 consecutive sessions on the New York Stock Exchange, and while there is little improvement in the news background, some analysts looked for a turnaround soon, if only for technical reasons. One view was that a run like this (declines over advances) is "most unusual" and the market could be in for a smart comeback soon.

Shortly after the opening, the U.P.I. marketwide indicator showed a loss of 0.4 per cent on 331 issues crossing the tape. There were 137 declines and 102 advances.

In the steel group, Bethlehem was 1/4 lower at 28 1/4, while U.S. Steel gave up 1/4 to 36.

Burroughs picked up 1/4 to 130 1/2 in the electronics, while University Computing gained 1/4 to 32 1/4. Honeywell lost 1/4 to 144 1/4, with Control Data and General Electric off 1/4 apiece to 43 1/4 and 72 1/4, respectively. Telex Corp. rose 1/4 to 91.

Fairchild Camera held unchanged at 56 1/4. IBM also was unchanged at 209. Memorex picked up 1/4 to 95, but RCA lost 1/4 to 24 1/4. Motorola 1 1/4 to 87.

Quotations by Hornblower & Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes, members of the New York Stock Exchange. Kingston representatives, Paul Coon and Theodore Peck.

Claims—Counterclaims Muddle Mideast Picture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS more Egyptian commandos two raids across the Suez Canal Israeli patrols and destroyed Sunday, but as usual Egypt and Israel disputed the results.

Cairo said 200 troops made the first attack before dawn, and it was the largest Egyptian raid across the canal in nearly five months. Egypt claimed the raiders stormed El Shat and took the Israeli defenders "by complete surprise," overrunning their positions, killing or wounding 35 troops, and destroying four antiaircraft guns.

Two tanks, two halftracks, two trucks and two bulldozers, Cairo reported three Egyptian soldiers killed.

Israel said there were no Israeli casualties, five Egyptians were killed, and the Egyptian report was "a fable out of 'A Thousand and One Nights'."

Later Sunday, Cairo reported, Egyptian commandos made a second raid across the canal, attacking two Israeli patrols and destroying three halftracks and two tanks. A spokesman said one Egyptian tank crew were killed.

Israel said the Egyptians ambushed a motorized patrol north of El Qantara. It claimed that its soldiers rushed the attackers, drove them back to the canal, and sank a boat carrying eight soldiers. Tel Aviv said five Israelis and nine Egyptians were wounded but that all the commandos escaped to the Egyptian side of the canal.

The Israeli military command also reported the third air strike against guerrilla outposts in Jordan in three days. Israeli jets struck near Ma'oz Haim in the Beisan Valley and near the Israeli town of Neve Ur, spokesmen said. Tel Aviv claimed the report was "a fable out of 'A Thousand and One Nights'."

Two bases were staging posts for guerrilla raids against Israeli civilian settlements.

All the planes returned safely, fice of Israel's El Al Airlines in Istanbul. But the Popular Struggle Group, another Arab guerrilla organization, said its men carried out the bombing Friday.

Jordanian territory in the north, Jordan Valley Sunday and in that one Israeli soldier was injured.

On the political front, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser announced that he had appointed Hassanein Heikal, his close friend and editor of the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, as minister of information.

Heikal speaks for Nasser in his newspaper so often that his weekly editorials are interpreted as statements of the Egyptian president's views.

Heikal has persistently advocated official disclosure of more information, and there was speculation that his appointment would result in this.

In Amman, the Al Fatah guerrilla organization denied that it was responsible for the dynamite attack Saturday on the of-

Trafficanti to Talk

Students in Massive Cleanup

Environmental Education Week Highlighted

SAUGERTIES Throughout the district, many programs, assemblies, class, and club activities have participated in recognition of Environmental Education Week.

In the Senior High School: Students of American Studies placed posters at each classroom door throughout the school. These posters reflect a message in regards to pollution.

Teams of students spent one day cleaning up litter within a mile square area of the center of town.

The litter was placed in plastic bags and displayed in the center of the bus circle at the high school.

Students from the Humanities class have made a film and tape program reflecting the way in which man treats his environment.

In addition, other students have made a slide study of man and his environment. These slides were shown in class.

Junior High School classes will be viewing sound filmstrips of the various aspect of environmental crisis and participating in class discussions.

On May 20 a combined assembly of Junior and Senior High School pupils will be held. The program of films, special music, art displays, and speakers is being prepared by student government leaders and faculty members.

The elementary schools, too, are involved in numerous interesting and informative activities. Tree planting ceremonies will take place at Mt. Marion, Grant Morse, and Glasco Schools. The Blue Mountain Community Club, the Society of Little Gardens, and the Garden Club have presented trees to the schools.

Elementary pupils in all schools cleaned up litter and debris from the school grounds and adjoining areas.

The Society of Little Gardens is sponsoring a composition contest "Why I Like a Tree," with prizes for the best compositions.

A nature trail is being developed at the Grant Morse School, a tree replanting program is under way at the Glasco School, and field trips to area industries are planned by several schools.

Among the many activities held at the Grant D. Morse School was the planting of a red maple tree donated by the ladies of the Blue Mountain Community Club.

On hand for the ceremony were Mrs. Walter Wittenbecher, president, other officers and club members and Carlton King, local conservationist, who discussed the planting and care of a tree, and Patrick Buonfiglio, principal.

Participating were the following students who were selected by their classmates and Frank Liebel: Mrs. Hanson, Mulligan; Miss Kay, Rachel Bonnie Bogardus and Russell Mercer and Sean Gilpin; Mrs. Praetorius; Mrs. Dubbeling, Mastin, Debra Sommers and Jenny Derschang and Vincent Stephen Sepey; Miss Norton, Lucente; Miss Miller, Melissa Silka Benz and David Rosen; Grade 4, Mrs. Anthony, Grade 6, Mrs. King, Susan blum; Grade 4, Mrs. Lezette and Mark Moore; Mrs. Putnam, Cheryl Pangerc and Andrea Baran and Allan Fetty; Mrs. White, Mrs. Campbell, Lois Brandt and Mrs. Timothy Sheehan; Mrs. Tonzi, Reimiller and Michael Smith; Christopher Balzan; Grade 1, Broughton; Grade 3, Mrs. Du Jackie Nollett and Peter Der-William Provost, Trudy Curtis Mrs. Galiotta, Edan Parsons Bois, Susan Millett and William schang; Grade 5, Dean Bullock, and Thomas Kaiser.

Mayone to Speak On Drug Abuse

WEST CAMP A film on the evils of drug addiction will also be shown. Refreshments will be served.

A program on narcotics abuse has been scheduled as a public service by St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at West Camp on Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

Thomas F. Mayone, county investigator of the district attorney's office will be the guest speaker. An expert on the county's narcotics problem, Mayone will present his informative program in conjunction with the church's 260th anniversary.

The session is open to the public and both parents and teenagers are urged to attend.

Homemakers Show Projects At Centerville

A number of projects were displayed at this week's meeting of Centerville Home Makers unit at Saugerties Savings Bank building.

The items were a hairpin lace shawl by Katherine Helm, a handy turkish towel accessory by Ann Kalenchek, tote bags by Katherine Helm, a flower arrangement by Katherine Keller made from assorted colors of burlap. Classes will begin soon.

A new chairman on the sick committee is Marge Kohan, co-chairman Madeline O'Neill.

A June luncheon will be held, date and place to be discussed at the next meeting. Kathleen Whitaker will be chairman.

An array of attractive homemade cakes were served by the committee, Ethel Myer, Pauline Wolfe and Claire Ward. Next refreshments committee will be Martha Scheider, Katherine Keller and Ann Blanchard. By an error, Mildred Leard's name was omitted as a new member.

Club President Resigns; Slate Election in May

WEST SAUGERTIES

Mrs. Angeline Richard, recently elected president of West Saugerties Community Club submitted her resignation at this week's meeting held at the club.

She gave as her reason, ill health.

Mrs. Anna Yakin, past president, who presided, announced that election of a new president will take place at the next meeting in May.

A card party was scheduled at the club on Tuesday 11:30 a.m. Those attending will bring a box lunch and place setting. The club will provide the beverage.

It was noted that many new projects were in progress and will be reported on at the next meeting.

Saugerties News Organ Concert At St. Mary's

SAUGERTIES

Saint Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties will be the setting for an organ concert Sunday May 3, at 3 p.m.

The organ was received as a gift to the parish in Nov. 1969 and now, in concert, and thanksgiving, the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles J. Kaufmann would like to present the organ to the community. The theme will be, "The varied roles of a church organ."

Featured as soloists will be Howard Houghtaling, organist; Dr. Herman Ash, as violinist and violist; Mary Genovese, contralto; James Shier, baritone and Nan Dickman, organist.

Houghtaling is organist and choir director of the Reformed Church in Saugerties. He is also the musical director of the Hammond Organ Studio of Hudson Valley, in Kingston, where the new organ of Saint Mary's was purchased.

Dr. Ash, a prominent physician, has long been active in local chamber groups. He will play a selection by Bach on the Viola with organ accompaniment.

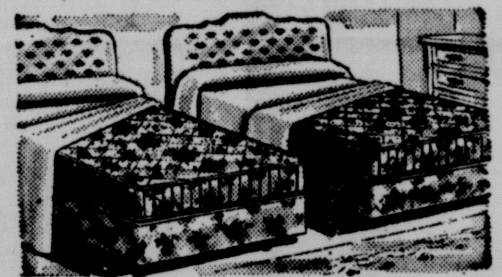

Mary Genovese, a leading contralto from Pawling, will sing an aria from Saint Matthew's Passion, with Dr. Ash playing a violin obligato, also accompanied with the organ.

Shier, a soloist from the Saugerties Methodist Church, will sing "Our Father" by Malotte.

Nan Dickman, organist and choir director of Saint Mary of the Snow, will also be a soloist at the organ, in addition to accompanying the soloists and directing both choirs.

Saint Mary's Junior and Senior Choirs will be featured on the program singing a wide variety of compositions. Members of the Junior Choir will serve as ushers. There will be no admission fee. It is hoped that all members of the community and their friends will be able to attend this festival of thanksgiving.

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTSPlans for Summer Announced*Hekler Will Address GOP Club

WOODSTOCK A buffet dinner in June and a picnic-rally in August are two of the events being planned by Woodstock Republican Club.

The club will meet Thursday, 8 p.m. at Deanie's Restaurant. Norm Fowler, program chairman, has announced that Herbert Hekler, director of the Ulster County Planning Board, will be guest speaker. Hekler is well known as a lively speaker, and his credentials are most impressive. He received his BA in economics from Queens College, his MA in City Planning from MIT, and spent one year in Germany as a Fulbright Scholar, studying city planning. After four years with the Westchester planning consultants, Fredrick P. Clark, Associates, Hekler was appointed director of the Ulster County Planning Board. He is also currently vice president of the State County Planners Association. Hekler calls himself a life-long weekend resident of Marbletown, where his parents have a summer home. He and his family currently reside in Kingston. Hekler will speak to the club on the future of Woodstock and Ulster County as viewed by the Planning Board. The club cordially invites any one interested in the topic to attend the meet-

Girl Scout Units
Observe Earth Day

WOODSTOCK Seventy-five Junior Girl Scouts and Brownies from Woodstock School celebrated a combination Earth Day and Conservation Day last week at the Woodstock Library. They were grouped around a flowering dogwood tree which five troops donated to the Library.

The girls, all in uniforms, made a large circle around the dogwood tree which they had selected at Tripicco's. There was a flag ceremony and a choral reading, led by Mrs. McGarra. They recited the Conservation Pledge. After singing "America the Beautiful," one girl from each of the five troops put a symbolic shovel of dirt at the base of the tree. All the girls contributed their own money toward the cost of the tree.

The Book Committee, thanked the girls in behalf of the Library and congratulated them on their efforts. Punch and cookies were then served and the girls picked up the waste paper on the surrounding lawn. Scout leaders whose troops participated in the ceremony were Barbara Pickhardt, Sandy Rokoff, Eileen Ballard, Sandy McGarra and Grace Wenner. Officers and trustees of the Library, as well as many friends, were also present.

Major Progress on Price Front
To Indicate Easing of Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The battle against inflation is being won and the public will know about it through "major progress on the price front" by the end of this year, according to President Nixon's top economic adviser.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said those who claim the battle is being lost because prices have not come down, despite a mid-winter slowdown, are only displaying ignorance of basic economic theory. McCracken told UPI in an interview:

"As an economy starts to cool off, you are inevitable going to have a period when the price level continues to fall along with basic economic conditions seem to become less inflationary."

"To look at these two seemingly contradictory things and say that something has gone wrong is to display an ignorance of how these things always tend to work."

The nation's output of goods and services declined at an annual rate of 1.5 per cent in the first quarter of this year, the sharpest economic downturn in a decade, but despite the slowdown, the cost of living continued to rise at an annual rate of about 6 per cent—highest since the Korean war.

The administration has been warning for more than a year that there would be a "time lag" between the cooling off of the general economy and control of inflation. But there is now some evidence that economic growth may be resuming without producing any noticeable improvement in inflation. McCracken agreed output may increase in the present quarter which ends June 30.

Output fell for one quarter in 1967 but growth resumed in the following quarter and inflation continued unabated through it all.

McCracken said price developments, traditionally "reflect economic conditions several months earlier" and "what we are seeing are the inevitable cross currents that you will see as an economy begins to shift directions."

The new statute on flashing lights allows red lights only on police and fire vehicles and ambulances. Other lights will be amber for utility and tow trucks, blue for volunteer firemen and green for volunteer ambulances not part of a fire unit.

I Am Curious (Yellow)

Vilgot Sjoman's complete and uncut I Am Curious (Yellow) is a "remarkable film (which) has been playing for a long time to droves of Swedes, and to several million people almost everywhere. It is the story of a young girl who is, or was, curious about politics, non-violence, Zen, commitment, socialism, other Swedes and, to be sure, sex. It is a serious film with a noble theme, and, in dramatic terms, it is original."

Kiwanis Speaker Traces Increase In Crime Throughout Nation

KINGSTON — "We might honestly say that it's unfortunately beginning to look as though crime does pay!"

With this statement, John M. Snyder, a native Kingstonian presently living in Washington, traced the increase in crime throughout the nation before a recent Kingston Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Before an audience of Kiwanians and local law enforcement officers, Snyder pointed to the increase in crimes in cities with populations between 25 and 50 thousand. He spoke of the increase of 12 per cent in the number of murders, forcible rapes by 16 per cent, aggravated assaults by 12 per cent, burglaries by 4 per cent, larcenies by 25 per cent, and auto thefts by 12 per cent.

The speaker posed the question of why crime is on the increase. One response, he said, is "usually some combination of an overly permissive attitude and a belief that the crime problem is primarily material and institutional that it may be solved solely and merely by vast fiscal expenditure within some institutional setup."

This idea professes that environment and things in it are totally responsible. Snyder emphasized that "people, not things, commit crimes."

He also discredited the theory of crime control which has, as its starting point, a belief in total, indiscriminate group suppression. "They would imprison all members of certain minority groups to prevent militant violent activity by a small percentage," stated Snyder.

Solutions to crime which ultimately deny the intrinsic worth of the individual human being and of the freedom of man, were not solutions, said the speaker. "If our solutions to the crime problem are to be in conformity with the belief in human freedom, they must also be in conformity with the fact of human responsibility," he said.

In conclusion, Snyder suggested: "Let us live and act as free and responsible individuals who know that our freedom comes from the hand of God and that no gangster or political criminal can wrest that spiritual quality from us."

Let our public policies reflect this human commitment to freedom and responsibility. Let us promote the free pursuit of excellence according to each one's specific free nature. Let us reaffirm our faith in a social and political order based on the supremacy of the free and responsible people in that order."

"Crime must be made to not pay," he concluded.

Young Marines to Graduate Tonight

KINGSTON — A recruit graduation by Company A of the Ulster County Young Marines will be conducted tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Kate Walton Field House when 15 boys who have completed their rigorous 12-week Boot Camp will advance to the senior troops, according to Gilbert E. Gray, commanding officer.

Recruits will receive their graduation certificates at the ceremonies that have been arranged by John Ray Mayone, executive officer of the units, who invites the public to attend. Included on the program will be a passing in review of the entire company and a sample drill session planned to illustrate the training methods utilized by the Young Marines.

Graduates will be Barry J. Rowles, Walter D. Faurote, Stephen E. Faurote, Dennis Dachenhausen, Ernest J. Longhi, David A. Gray, Thomas Petro, Kenneth Bagley, Daniel Dachenhausen, William Ganss, Scott W. Gilbert, Michael A. Galletta, Jeffrey Marelo, Kevin Stenson and Robert P. Ernst. Gray noted that P.F.C. Jiggs, the unit's English bull mascot, will be present at the ceremonies.

Stephens Nominated For Award by Bankers

KINGSTON Nominated as banking's Man of the Year, Howard Stephens, vice president and cashier of The State of New York National Bank, was presented with an award at the annual dinner of The American Institute of Banking held recently at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

At the annual dinner-meeting last year, the institute set up a new award, a blazer jacket with the AIB insignia embroidered over the pocket for presentation to the nominee. The first award went to Fred Carpenter of Kingston Trust Company.

In making the presentation to Stephens, John Molloy, a past president of the chapter, cited the recipient as "most truly representing the spirit and purpose of the American Institute of Banking and for his dedication to banking and his community."

Stephens has been active in

HOWARD STEPHENS

AIB from its inception and served as local chapter president in 1966. A native of Kingston, he was educated in local elementary schools and at the former Moran School of Business. He also studied at LaSalle Extension University and holds a graduate from the American Institute of Banking.

He joined the State of New York National Bank as a teller in 1940 and, except for more than three years of army service during World War II, he has been with the bank for most of his business career. Stephens has served the First Presbyterian Church as elder, trustee and treasurer and has also been active in the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company and other volunteer firemen activities.

Ronald H. Every, an officer at the State of New York National Bank and current president of the AIB, presided at the recent dinner-meeting.

The AIB, the section of the American Bankers Association dedicated to college-level instruction in banking, celebrates its 70th anniversary this year. Nearly every career banker in the county has been involved with the Institute since the Ulster County Chapter was first formed in 1941.

The annual dinner-meeting is held after the end of the academic year.

Big Milk Business

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association says dairying is the largest industry in the states of New York and Vermont and second only to steel in Pennsylvania.

The value of dairy farms in the three states totals about $5 billion.

OPEN TV CHANNEL — The new Kingston Cablevision informational TV channel opened Friday with a ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by government officials at its Port Ewen studio. Cablevision's general manager, William S. Krajci (R) stressed, in the first live telecast, the importance of an informed public to the future growth of the Mid-Hudson Valley. With Krajci are (L) County Legislator Melvin Mones, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., Jack Kelly, president of the State of New York National Bank, and County Clerk Albert Spada. The new channel is to be known as "K-TRIC". A community information center which can be seen on Channel 2, it will provide weather reports, school bulletins, news, time, sports and civic events, according to Cablevision's community news department. Caldor Growth Featured in Story NORWALK, CONN. Caldor, Inc., a leading retail discount department store chain, and its president, Carl Bennett, are featured in a nine-page cover story published in the current issue of Discount Merchandiser, a major trade publication.

Titled "After Consolidation — Acceleration," the story details the fast growing company's operations over recent years, and explores directions of future growth. It begins, "A three years pause for tightening up the operation and developing new strengths in key departments has been the Caldor course up to now. Today, the Connecticut-based chain of 14 stores has busted out with new openings and new ideas."

Subsequent pages are devoted to an interview with Mr. Bennett and to color photos of the "new look" image in Caldor stores.

Caldor's increasing soft-goods volume, management's close control over store operations, the chain's continuing efforts to develop superior personnel through constant training, its pace-setting computerized inventory control system, and ability to merchandise higher-priced lines at greater value than its department store competition are explored in the interview.

Bennett himself is the subject of Discount Merchandiser's "In This Corner" feature where Caldor's start with a "power play in name brand" major appliances in Portchester, N. Y., is traced to its present status as a $92 million a year retail force in the Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York suburbs.

CS Exam

An open competitive examination for a welfare unit assistant at a starting salary of $4,893 will be given June 6. The last date for filing applications with the Ulster County Civil Service Commission is May 1.

Candidates must be high school graduates and have had two years' experience in paid clerical work in other than the welfare department or one year in the welfare department.

Swartzmiller Set For Honors Tonight

POUGHKEEPSIE W. Dale Swartzmiller, recently retired as Mid-Hudson Regional manager of the New York State Department of Commerce, will be honored at a testimonial dinner sponsored by The Mid-Hudson Industrial Association tonight.

The event will be held at the Dutchess Golf and Country Club in this city. State Commerce Commissioner Neal Moylan will be the principal speaker.

"This occasion gives industrialists of the Mid-Hudson area, who know an outstanding public servant when they see one, a long overdue opportunity to give recognition to Dale's record of accomplishments over the past 25 years," said William K. Hayes, the Association's Executive Vice President.

MHIA President Alan A. Flans will preside at the 7 o'clock dinner, which will be preceded by a cocktail hour.

Coronary Intensive Care Unit In Service at Kingston Hospital

KINGSTON patients. An additional four room section is adjacent for use by less critically ill patients. Each room has an electrically operated bed. Above and to the side of the headboard there are oxygen and suction outlets, call light, night light and additional three prong outlets. There is a monitor by each patient bed and a central monitoring station at the nurses desk which, through long leads or telemetering permits doctors and nurses to follow on an oscilloscope and a direct writer the heart rhythm of all patients. A suitable

The Kingston Hospital's new Intensive Coronary Care-Intensive Care Unit was placed in service last week. The 15 bed, 8,800 square foot area was constructed at a cost of $317,690 on the top floor of the hospital's Broadway wing. The I.C.C.U. will provide a cardiac catheterization laboratory with equipment costing $75,000 sponsored by the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary. Other equipment for the Unit cost an additional $40,000.

The architect was Harry Halverson, who designed the entire Broadway wing, which opened in 1966. At that time the two top floors were put up as a shell for completion at a later date, effecting a considerable savings. Rogers, Butler and Burgun of New York City were consulting architects. Slover, Jansen and Schline were the general contractors. The chairman of the building committee or the Board of Trustees is Christus J. Larios.

The unit is designed with 11 patient rooms arranged around a central nursing station, from which nurses can see all of the audible and visible alarm indicates undue slowing or speeding of the heart rates. A cardioverter and battery operated pacemakers are also available. The interior decorating throughout the Unit was planned by Fred Johnston of Kingston, who donated his services. The waiting room resembles a private living room, carpeted in red with white walls and Williamsburg blue trim. The room was a gift from the family of the late A. Raymond Atkins and will be dedicated in his memory. Atkins was a prominent Kingston banker and public accountant who served on the hospital's Board of Trustees. The unit also has a conference-classroom, a nurses lounge and a doctors' lounge.

The intensive care concept was instituted at the Kingston Hospital in June 1968 in another section of the building. The present construction resulted in an expansion and relocation of the unit. Intensive care concentrates critically ill patients in one area where facilities are tailored to the special needs of the acutely ill. Constant nursing care is provided and life saving drugs and equipment are always at hand. The intensive care unit makes it possible to provide optimum care and treatment with a maximum of efficiency. It will serve patients whose prospects for recovery are enhanced by such a unit, regardless of the patient's race, sex, color or economic state.

The care of the patients in this specialized unit is delegated to a team of physicians, nurses and technicians. Selected nurses assigned to the Unit must have had the initial formal course in coronary care. This formal course is repeated throughout the year to accommodate new nurses selected for the Unit. An on going inservice education program will supplement the formal course. This involves nurse to nurse teaching, doctor nurse lectures, team and individual conferences.

Prior to its opening to patients, the Unit was made available for public inspection at which time the public also had an opportunity to see the recently completed 35 bed third floor area which was placed into service on March 9, replacing the old men's ward.

'It's Enough to Make You Sick'Part I of Five Part Series..... With Every Breath You Take

By BETHAMI PROBST
To dramatize the gruesome effect of dirty air, a medical weekly recently put two lungs in living color on its cover — a revolting, soot-blackened "city" lung next to a freshly crimson, clean "country" lung.

But why is the "country" lung so tiny compared with the "city" lung? Because, came the explanation, the search for a clean adult lung — a search that fanned out from rural Virginia to bucolic Vermont — proved so time-consuming that Medical World News settled for the tiny rosy lung of a baby dead of epilepsy at four months.

Even in rural areas these days, really clean air is hard to come by. Now fewer than 7,300 communities, encompassing more than half the nation's population, suffer from marked degrees of air pollution, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

In each of these communities, vulnerable people are sickening because of the dirty air they breathe, or some, pollution hastens their deaths.

Although there is no such entity as "air pollution disease," inhaling soot, carbon, metal dust, lead, asbestos, carbon monoxide, sulphur dioxide and other noxious substances is unhealthy. It is particularly unhealthy for certain people:

— Smokers. The damaging substances in dirty air deepen the harm wrought by the cigarettes smoke. When a Canadian pathologist compared 300 lungs from sooty St. Louis with 300 from relatively pure-aired Winnipeg, Canada, he found four times as many severe cases of emphysema (a breakdown of certain lung tissue that results in shortness of breath and eventual death) among St. Louis smokers as among Winnipeg smokers. Among non-smokers, the results were similar.

— People suffering from heart disease, emphysema, chronic bronchitis or asthma. Severe pollution aggravates all these disorders. Death rates for heart disease are 37 per cent higher for men and 46 per cent higher for women in metropolitan areas than in communities with relatively clean air. There is also some evidence of a connection between air pollution and gastric cancer.

Air pollution can menace an entire community. When climatic conditions trip a city in a layer of heavily polluted air or fog, death rates soar — as they did in New York in 1953, 1963, and 1966. Among the first of these disasters was the Donora, Pennsylvania fog of 1948 which killed 20 people. Moreover, in that small mill town dominated by steel and chemical plants, nearly half the population sickened.

'Death Fogs'

These "death fogs" may be only the tip of an iceberg, however. "The methods we have for detecting excess deaths," warns Dr. Robert Horton, head of the government's Health Effects

Research Program, "are so crude that there has to be a pretty big excess for us to realize that it's there at all. What we do know is that people get killed by air pollution."

As pollution intensifies and spreads, escaping to the suburbs or a temporary relief measure. The hard fact of the matter is that the earth's supply of air is finite, and only a shallow layer contains enough oxygen for men to survive. Most of the air we use extends up only 2,000 feet although the oxygenated layer is 15,000 feet deep. If we keep pouring pollutants into this limited supply of air, it must reach a point of dangerous saturation just as surely as escaping gas eventually reaches a lethal point in a house.

Our ability to pollute is limitless. Every car driven daily contributes more than one ton of carbon monoxide to the air in a year, and the number of cars in the U.S.

increases twice as fast as the population explosion. The demand for electric power expands at a similar rate. Flights of jet aircraft landing in New York alone emit an estimated 36 million tons of carbon dioxide into the air annually. Meanwhile, more than one million acres of oxygen-producing trees are paved over each year.

Hive of Activity

This wealth of activity, ingenuity and production makes the air pollution situation particularly troublesome in the United States. Semi-optimists say we will all be wearing gas masks within 10 years unless something is done. Pessimists say the earth will start to become uninhabitable in about 20 years.

Already, smarting eyes and vague chest pains are commonplace, some California school children must skip outdoor recesses when pollution becomes extreme and alarmed virologists decline to eat liver because that's where pesticides accumulate in animals.

Emphysema has become the nation's fastest growing disease, up 500 per cent in the past 15 years. A study in Buffalo, N.Y., linked gastric cancer and pollution.

Even a Bit

Even low levels of pollution may be harmful. A high school cross-country team in San Marino, California, turned in measurably poorer performances on smoggy days. These young athletes were affected by the lowest measurable quality of pollution — one part per million, which looks and feels like a clear day to most people.

Researchers at Stanford University School of Medicine found that unnoticeable amounts of carbon dioxide in the air cause a deterioration in student performance after 50 minutes. Yet such concentrations of 100 parts per million are frequently reached in garages, tunnels and traffic jams.

Since people have befouled the atmosphere, only people can clear it up. Progress is possible. A determined Pittsburgh is on the way to reducing a 1940 dust fall from 60 tons per square mile per month to 12 tons in 1975. Greater London has reduced ground level concentrations of pollution by one-third in 10 years.

But, ultimately, sticking at a zero population growth is vital if compulsory gas masks are to be avoided. So long as more and more people are born to make almost irresistible demands on the environment, the limited air must become increasingly unbreathable and fresh air at a distant memory.

"Time has run out on the age-old idea that human progress means more people and more energy," says Botanist Ralph Emerson of the University of California at Berkeley. "First priority must be given to rigid birth control. . . ."

Golden Anniversary for AAUW

The 50th anniversary of the New York State Division of the American Association of University Women will be celebrated May 14-16 at the new Flagship in Rochester during the Division's 30th biennial convention. An invitation to attend has been extended to the nearly 10,000 AAUW members in the state by Division president Mrs. James McGraw of Delmar.

A commemorative booklet, "Fifty Years of AAUW" is being prepared for the occasion by Mrs. H.W. Biederstedt of Mohawk, recording secretary and nominee for Division president. The booklet will be available at the convention for a nominal fee.

Present to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the State Division will be Association president, Dr. Anne Gary Pannell, president of Sweet Briar College and holder of honorary degrees from six or more other colleges. A Phi Beta Kappa, listed in Who's Who in America, recipient of the Mother Gerard Phelan Gold Medal, Marymount College, 1968, and an alumnae trustee of Barnard College. Dr. Pannell in 1968 headed the AAUW delegation to the IFUW Conference in Karlsruhe, Germany.

Other speakers will include

Mrs. Rita Hauser, U.S. Representative on the UN Commission on Human Rights; Mrs. Carol Leimas, AAUW UN Representative; Mrs. Mary Boyette, AAUW Staff Associate for Public Information; and Assemblywoman Mary Ann Krupak who will list priorities for the 70's in legislation.

In addition to the planned programs there will be "How To" workshops, a membership playshop, branch newsletters exhibit, special project exhibits from branches throughout the state, a tea at the Rochester clubhouse, reception at the Flagship, cultural and inner city tours, election of officers, and a discussion of legislative principles and common concerns.

Hostess branch for the 50th anniversary convention is the Rochester Branch of AAUW under the leadership of Dr. Ruth Watanabe, president, and Mrs. John D. McAlister, convention chairman.

Top Business Women Named

As part of the Second Annual Conference on Women and Money, the Anchor Group of Mutual Funds conducted a poll and came up with the names of the top ten outstanding women in business.

Among those listed were Lucille Ball, president of Desilu Productions, Inc.; Estee Lauder, president of Estee Lauder Inc., and the only woman in the cosmetic field to be cited; and Joan Crawford, actress and vice-president of PepsiCo.

The women were accorded this honor by 575 business and financial editors. They were cited as the Top Ten Outstanding Women in Business in the United States.

Also on the list were three women in the publishing business: Katherine Graham, owner of Washington Post and Newsweek Magazine; Dorothy Schiff, editor, publisher, and owner of New York Post; and Oveta Culp Hobby, president of Houston Post Publishing Company.

Other women cited are: Olive Ann Beech, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Beech Aircraft; Mary Wells Lawrence, advertising executive, resident of Wells, Rich and Greene; Muriel Siebert, first woman to hold seat on New York Stock Exchange; Mary Wrenn, vice president of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

In speaking about her honor, Estee Lauder stated that many principles which contributed to her success in business are the same for both women and men.

"Start by demanding the finest quality in everything you make," she suggests, "then tell your story with enthusiasm. And always look for things that should be changed. We learn too much every day to be satisfied with yesterday's achievements."

Annual Antique and Art Show Scheduled Saturday

Nellie Elmendorf of 79 O'Neil Street, Kingston, will be among the many antique dealers, craft dealers and artists who will exhibit at the third annual Antique and Art

Show and Sale sponsored by Valley Central Scholarship Council on Saturday, May 2 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The event will be held at Valley Central High School, Route 17K, Montgomery. A nominal admission fee will be charged for adults and half-price for students.

The Council feels there is something of interest for the entire family.

In addition to the many antique dealers who have contracted to participate in the show, there will be three special antique exhibits: pewter, Staffordshire and antique guns.

The Resnick Motor Museum of Ellenville will display a 1907 "Silver Ghost" Rolls Royce valued at $100,000. It is the second oldest in the country.

Many professional and non professional artists will exhibit their work. Ribbon awards will be presented. Judges for the Art Show will be Leonard Wallace, Professor of Art at Orange County Community College, Middletown; and Bruce Kelso, High School Art Instructor at Wallkill Central High School. Mr. Kelso obtained his B.S. degree at State University College at New Paltz.

School art will also be exhibited from schools in the Valley Central School District in grades K-12, as well as the Church of the Most Precious Blood School, Walden, and the Otisville Training School. Their work will not be in open competition.

Eight seniors from the high school, four from the middle school and two pupils from each of the elementary schools in the Valley Central School System will be conducting art classes in which the public may participate.

Mrs. Phyllis Goodman, portrait artist of Newburgh, will be available to do portraits throughout the day.

To date, fifteen craft dealers have contracted to participate in the show. Exhibits will include needlecraft, leather craft, pottery, stained glass, pressed glass, copper enameling, pine furniture, country crafts, ceramics and wood craft; as well as ground floor from a local grist mill, hand crafted jewelry and hand made candles. Highlighting the craft demonstrations will be a demonstration in the art of glass blowing. There will also be a "Nature Under Glass" demonstration in macramé which is a knotted rope art form.

There will be a well stocked miscellaneous booth, homemade baked goods, and a large variety of potted plants ready for Mother's Day.

Luncheon will be available. All proceeds benefit the scholarship fund.

Council members dressed in colonial attire look forward to greeting the public.

COLLARMEN TO SING — Contemporary music sung by the Collarmen is a rich combination of experience and talent. It has been written about them: "They wear collars, but not so tight as to choke off their wonder at life and their desire to capture it in song." On Sunday, May 3 at 3 p. m., the Collarmen will give a benefit concert in the John A. Coleman High School auditorium. The concert is sponsored by the school's Parents Association. Appearing in the new group of singers from Mt. St. Alphonsus will be (L-R) Father Gerry LaPorte and Fraters Norman Bennett, Tom Brooks, Marty Marquez, Steven Robach and Sam Marento. In February of this year the Collarmen gave a benefit concert for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

Club Activities Announced

Fashion Awards

On Monday, April 20 a Sorosis of Kingston-sponsored fashion show was held in the church parlor of First Baptist Church. Girls from the Home Economics classes of Kingston schools modeled garments which they had made under the direction of Mrs. Thomas.

First award was presented to Joan Whalen and second place went to Patricia Sterley, both of Board of Cooperative Educational Services.

Judges were Miss Berta Frey of Woodstock, Mrs. Vincent Carr of Kingston, Mrs. William McVey of Rhinebeck, and Mrs. James Shelhorse of Hurley. All entries showed skill in fabric selection and construction.

The next meeting of Sorosis will take place Monday, May 4 at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Shelhorse.

Distaff Digest

Flea Market Booth

At the April 21 dinner meeting of Xi Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the Stockade Restaurant, Kingston, Mrs. Louis Mariotti, president, announced the Chapter will have a booth at the June 6 "Flea Market," sponsored by Kingston Plaza Merchants Association. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Association for Retarded Children.

The Chapter will join Gamma Chi and Eta Eta Chapters on Tuesday, April 28 at Skytop Motel for the annual Founders Day banquet of the international sorority.

After the business meeting, Miss Blanche Cartier presented a program of slides dealing with our environment, entitled "And What Tomorrow?" Ann DeFelice was hostess at the dinner meeting.

Horticulture Workshop

A horticulture workshop will be the program for the Thursday, April 30 meeting of the Little Gardens Club of Kingston which is scheduled for 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Kenneth O'Dell in Hurley. The theme will be "Proper Grooming of Flower Show Material" with Mrs. O'Dell and Mrs. George Swart as co-ordinators. Members are asked to bring plant material for grooming. Co-hostess of the meeting will be Mrs. Darrell Nicholas.

The Club celebrated "Earth Day" on Wednesday, April 22 by cleaning up Hurley Library grounds under the direction of the Civic Beautification Committee with Mrs. Darrell Nicholas as chairman, assisted by the Mmes. James Shelhorse, Richard Uhler, George Brown, Vincent Genuario and George Swart. Perennials were planted around the library also.

Women Growing More Restless; Task Force Panel Urges Action

"American women are not going to sit by idly while continuous evidence of denial of equal opportunity and equal responsibility, even equal protection of the law, remains remotely near, a Presidential panel advised President Richard Nixon in a confidential report.

Virginia R. Allen, former president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, headed up the task force, which included two men — Vassar College President Alan Simpson and William C. Mercer, vice president of personnel relations at AT&T. The 13-member Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities presented its report to the President on December 15. Copies have been circulated within the administration.

According to AP writer Frances Levine, the report states America faces "danger of accelerating militancy" among women if they are not granted equal rights. "American women are increasingly aware and restive over the denial of equal opportunity and equal responsibility, even equal protection under the law."

It said Nixon should be at least as concerned about sex discrimination as racial discrimination. "Positive action," urged the Task Force, "would be a deterrent to the radical liberation movement preaching revolution."

Among other things the report recommends an office of women's rights under the President, a White House conference on women's rights and new legislation to remedy sex discrimination in education, social security, taxes, family assistance and employment.

It also urged the President to appoint more women to top government jobs and issue guidelines against sex discrimination in hiring by government contractors.

It also recommended, as "our national goal," a system of well-run child-care centers available to all pre-school children. Lack of such centers was cited as the single most significant barrier to job training and employment of low income mothers.

Among discriminatory practices singled out by the report were exclusion of women by some state universities and some state laws governing marriage, guardianship and property ownership.

Some states even provide LONGER PRISON TERMS FOR WOMEN and prohibit them from working as bartenders but not as lower-paid bar waitresses, the report noted.

Massed Concert Slated May 2

James Health, young Catskill resident who has won acclaim as the National Boys' Clubs "Boy of the Year," will participate in the annual massed concert of the Mohawk-Hudson Male Chorus Association on May 2nd at the Catskill High School. He has accepted the invitation of Charles Talleur, general chairman of the event, to lead the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The concert will include solo groups by The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston, conducted by Albert Hunter, and the Senior Choir of the Fair Street Reformed Church, conducted by Percy W. Gazlay II.

The assembled representatives of glee clubs from up and down the Hudson Valley and western New England — about 125 male voices — will join in a great massed chorus led by four guest conductors, Mr. Gazlay of Kingston, Donald Fellows of Saugerties, Donald Brown of Newburgh, and Robert Aldrich of Catskill.

The concert is sponsored by the Catskill Glee Club and tickets are available from any member of the club or at the door the night of the concert. The concert is scheduled for 8:15.

DONALD FELLOWS of Saugerties who will be one of the guest conductors of the massed chorus. Mr. Fellows, a graduate of Syracuse and Editor of the Catskill Mountain Star, is choir director at the Lutheran Church in Saugerties and conductor of the Catskill Glee Club.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I live in the suburbs and had a lot of trouble with dogs (and sometimes even wild animals such as raccoons) getting into my garbage can. Not even bricks on top of the lid seemed to discourage them.

So we took two springs, the kind you find on children's toy drums and fastened one end of each spring to each can handle and the other end of each to the lid handle.

We haven't had any problems since.

Margaret
Imagine that! Sure would help keep the old blood pressure down, wouldn't it? Cause I can't imagine anything more frustrating than an overturned garbage can.

I suppose any spring would work just as well as those from the drum, but the idea is just great, and, Margaret, thanks loads and loads and loads . . .

Heloise

Letter of Thought

Dear Heloise:

Why is it that when we compare ourselves with other people, their bank accounts always seem larger and their troubles so much smaller than our own? . . .

Dear Heloise:
My grandson wanted me to make a swing to hang from the limb of a tree in the yard. I didn't have any boards for a seat so I looked in the basement and found the foot tray of his walker.

I tied the rope to the tree limb in the usual way for a swing, leaving the loop part quite long. I then wrapped the rope around each hook on the tray a couple of times making the swing as high or as low as I wanted.

He sure had a lot of fun swinging and since the seat is nice and big, there isn't as much danger of his falling out.

Mrs. Grace Norris

Dear Heloise:

Just discovered that colorful lollipops sporting gay ribbons and stuck in a small potted homegrown plant makes a cute and very welcome gift for the small tots in the hospital or sick at home.

Maggie

Dear Heloise:

For a little extra nutrition, I always dissolve an envelope of unflavored gelatin in hot canned soups.

Mrs. M.S.

Good for your nails, too, gals. Also, if you are using gelatin in your diet daily, try it in hot bouillon. Makes it much tastier than drinking the gelatin plain.

She Leads a Double Life

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Women's liberation groups which claim that men prevent women from "doing their own thing" profitably have no charisma for Blanche Dolmatch. She is a successful painter who thinks the whole idea is absurd.

"I am in complete accord with Phyllis McGinley who says that if you have any drive you will get to do your own thing whether you're male or female," Mrs. Dolmatch says.

A suburban housewife and mother of two teen-agers, she is a serious painter. She doesn't stir the oatmeal with one hand while she daubs at pretty pictures with the other.

She has had a one-man show at the White Plains Library, exhibited at Wisconsin University, at the Hudson River Museum, Westchester Art Society and recently at the Katonah Gallery in New York.

Her paintings have awe-some impact. "Art should be a visual poem — not just an illustration." On the walls of her beautiful home are many of her "visual poems" in various styles from strong landscapes on through the "holocaust theme," depicting the Nazi horror as she feels she must tell it.

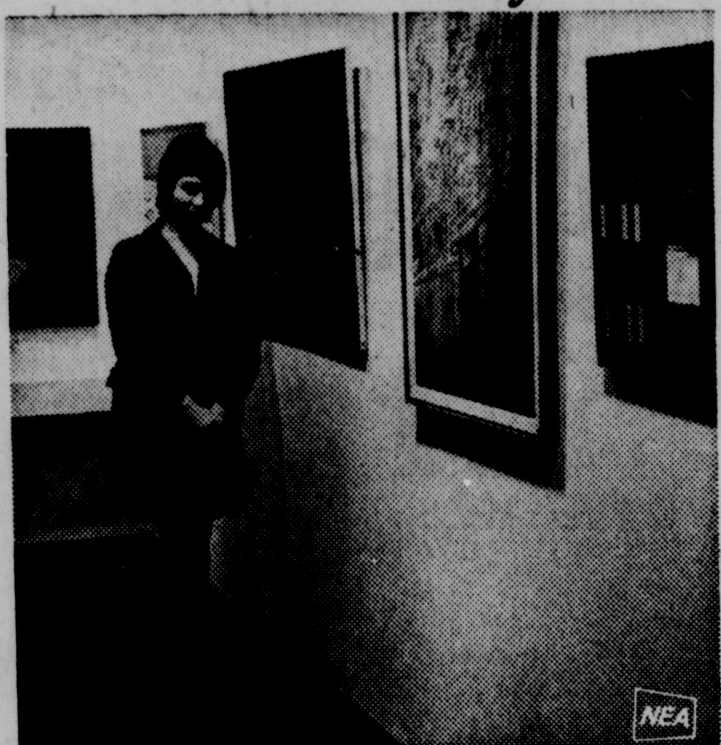

This lady, who has the drive to do her own thing and to do it successfully, has no patience with artist who say society berates female painters and doesn't give them a chance.

"Men don't have it any easier than women in this field," she said. "A beginning male artist has to do commercial art or teach. If he has a family he certainly has to do some less-creative work until he gets enough recognition so that he can afford to just paint pictures."

Too many women, Blanche Dolmatch believes, feel the need to prove themselves in their life style rather than in their work. "This situation is quite common," she added, "and all tied up with the female identity crisis all the magazines cry about."

"Creative people don't have to do all this role playing. Heaven knows there are any number of lady novelists who have homes and children, go to PTA meetings, do things for their communities and somehow manage to get their novels written and published. I think being a suburban matron throws you back on your own resources because you can't honestly blame anyone buy yourself if you don't accomplish anything."

According to Blanche, lady artists who claim it's a man's world and that society is trying to keep women in their place simply caring for their families forget that men as well as women have family problems — unless they take off to an island as Gauguin did.

She feels that many middle-class suburban women, convinced by the liberation movement that they are oppressed, really do have the time and leisure to do what they want to do, especially when their children are no longer very young. "My children have in no way been neglected," she said, "because I'm home."

"I feel very strongly that if a woman has a great urge to do something that will take her out of her home eight hours a day she should not have children or she should not do this work while they are small. They're really not her children if she herself doesn't raise them."

Children, Blanche says, get their first perception of the world from what their mothers say and teach. This is their prime educational influence and she feels it should be available.

"I don't agree that being a mother and homemaker is either demeaning or degrading, as the liberation groups are saying."

Mrs. Dolmatch was graduated magna cum laude from Brooklyn College and studied at the National Academy of Design, the New School and the Art Students League. Her desire to paint seriously didn't drive her to become what she terms "a female Gauguin." Her family was important to her. Yet she has succeeded in becoming a recognized painter.

That's one out for the feminists. Who's up next? (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DUREN
A good book arrived the other day. I don't have to keep on reading mysteries for a while. It is Hard Times, An Oral History of the Great Depression, by Studs Turkel, who also wrote the much admired Division Street.

The Great Depression. Who remembers it? The older union men who took part in the sit-down at the Ford plant, when they got a union and got rid of company guards with clubs, long hours, and the lowest possible wages. Not the young fellows of today. They never heard of it. The Oakies remember, the older people who lived in Hoovervilles, begged for bread, stood on soup lines. The members of the middle class who one day had a good job, a comfortable house, and plenty to eat, and the next day nothing and couldn't get a job no matter what their experience and skills.

Yes, children, it happened right here. But it was thirty and more years ago. Plenty of people were not born then; why should they remember? Our own experience was not too bad. We had sabbatical leave from the university. We spent it in the country. We had no money but neither did our friends and neighbors. Milk was four cents a quart, eggs twenty-one cents a dozen, you could get a leg of lamb for eighteen cents a pound. A lot of folks didn't have the eighteen cents.

In Mr. Turkel's admirable book of interviews with all sorts of Americans, old and young, a certain conversation took place. He was about to talk to Alf Landon, twice governor of Kansas, Republican candidate for President in 1936. To the taxi driver Turkel said: "There's Alf Landon." "Never heard of him." "Folks never told you." "No." "They ever tell you about Roosevelt?" "Roosevelt was in service. He was Rough Riders." "Teddy Roosevelt?" "Right." "Did they ever tell you about Franklin Roosevelt?" "No, not so much about that. Most people called him Teddy."

What is fame? Even thirty years old, I went on to read the interview with Alf Landon and I realized that although I knew his name and took part in the campaign in which he lost to Franklin, not Teddy, Roosevelt, my impressions of Mr. Landon were not much better than the taxi driver's. We thought of him as a Kansas oaf, only a cut above Harding, a nothing candidate who of course lost to the Happy Warrior (Not Teddy). He turns out to be a man of character and intelligence. He refused large contributions from big business to his campaign; he refused to say what he did not mean or think was right; he was surprisingly far from being a rubber-stamp Republican. In fact he edged over pretty close to the New Deal. He was humorous, sensible, compassionate.

I apologize to him. And will not think too hardily of the taxi driver to whom he was not even a name. Maybe our American history classes are at fault. Maybe the past is gone and cannot be resurrected. Nevertheless, to those young people who missed the Great Depression I recommend this book. They might be surprised at what went on in their parents' time.

Doing The Right Thing

ELIZABETH L. POST,

Hello Tags

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper to furnish my guests (approximately two hundred) with "Hello" tags? First they will serve as place cards and then, if they wish, as name tags. — Julie

Dear Julie: My only objection to the idea is that identification tags are associated with business meetings and conventions, and may tend to give the reception a rather "commercial" look. However, if you use them as place cards, and leave it up to the guests to decide whether to wear them or not, they may prove very practical if there are many people who are strangers to each other.

Tipping at Beauty Salon or Barber Shop

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a question concerning tipping a hairdresser. I always thought it was not necessary or proper to tip the hairdresser if she owns the shop. I have now been told I am wrong. Would you please clarify this, as I would like to do the proper thing.

Also, is it necessary to tip the barber when he cuts my son's hair if he is the owner of the shop? — M. Sanders
Dear Mrs. Sanders: In theory, and for many years in practice, the owners of most beauty shops would not accept a tip. However, their expenses have risen so tremendously that their margin of profit is way down, and most of them are happy to accept a tip.

I go regularly to a hairdresser who owns his own shop, and I have solved the problem this way: I do not give him a tip for my weekly wash and set. However, when he cuts my hair, gives me a permanent, or does anything "extra," I tip him approximately twenty per cent.

When you go to a new hairdresser, watch to see whether most of the other patrons tip the owner, and follow their lead.

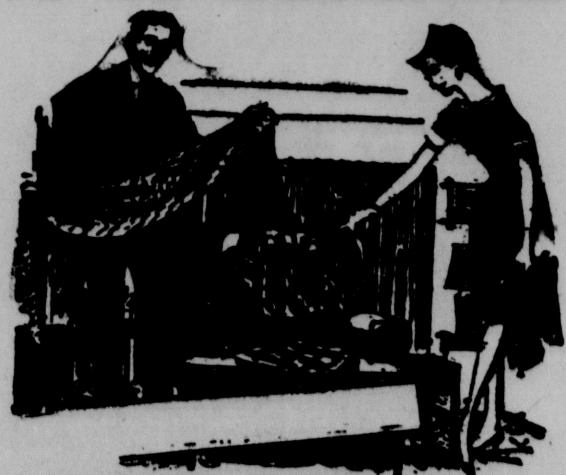

Prices for children's haircuts have gone so high that many mothers have stopped tipping at all, and many barbers realize this.

Who do you tip? When, and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in my booklet, "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send thirty-five cents in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears remain good seasonal buys. Serve with cheese slices or dips for hors d'oeuvres or dessert.

By AILEEN CLAIRE

Fresh winter pears, served with crisp cheese wedges, crackers or French bread or toast, make a refreshing dessert. Serving fruit with cheese as a finale to a hearty meal remains a European favorite and more Americans appreciate the combination.

The fruit and cheese are nutritious and most children will enjoy the tastes. As a switch in hors d'oeuvres, serve sliced pears with a blue cheese or devilish ham dip — a really good help-yourself nibble guests will appreciate.

Select ripe pears — they'll yield to gentle pressure — or firm pears to ripen at room temperature in a few days. When ripe, keep in refrigerator.

BLUE CHEESE DIP

Captains Table Takes Third Place With 3088

By JIM MASSA

KINGSTON Captains Table of Kingston produced the only significant change in the standings, as the fourth week of the 11-weekend New York State Bowling Championships was complete Sunday.

There were no major changes in any of the divisional leaders, but the Captains Table moved into third place in the handicap team standings with a 3,088, including a 441 pin bonus.

Angellotti's of Oneonta retained its team handicap lead with 3115, with Croitz Pin Busters of Wawarsing still in second with 3091.

Rounding out the top five are Olympic Rest of Solway with 3034 and George Pratt and Son Lumber Company of Highland with 3019.

Al Marone Ford of Buffalo held the team scratch lead with 2885.

Wally Michaels paced the Captains Table with a net 202-583. Dave Bakke furnished 231-559. Herb Rougier 207-509. Francis Van Gaasbeek 484 and Bill Van Gaasbeek 512. The team had 2647 in the wood.

Angellotti's of Oneonta are second in team scratch with 2857; followed by Stromberg-Carlson of Rochester, 2847; Raphael Restaurant of Syracuse, 2836; and Schenectady Bowling Association, 2829.

Change in Doubles

The father and son combination of Ed Tryniski Sr. and Ed Tryniski Jr. of Fulton produced the only major change in scratch doubles with a 1297 count. The father posted 760 and the son had 591.

The handicap doubles standings remained unchanged with John Siklinski and Frank Nikiel of Buffalo holding the lead at 1351.

Sam Piraino and Nick

Raphael of Baldwinville held their scratch doubles lead at 1328. The Kingston tandem of Jim Amendola (602) and Jack Ferraro (656) moved into eighth place with a 1258 total.

Dave Rotherberg (631) and William Dierberg (589) of Albany moved into fourth place in the handicap handicap listings with a 1,331, thanks to a 111 pin bonus.

Al Stady of Olean remained atop the scratch singles standings with 727. Martin Risner of Livingston Manor, second in scratch singles, held No. 1 in the handicap with 762.

Al Wood of Kingston remains in the fourth spot with 683. Stady exchanged places with Reiser for second in handicap singles at 760.

Area Teams Click

Paced by Captains Table's big blast, thirteen area teams rolled better than 2900 gross in the handicap division for the best showing in the four weekends of the tournament.

Perry's Dairy posted 2954. Old Community Market, 2955; Kingston Oil, 2906; Holy Name Wilbur, 2901; Schryver's Mugs, 2959.

Also in the 2900-class were:

Adirondack Trailways, 2817; Mannie's Barber Shop, 2934; Ulster Appliances, 2942; Wayside No. 2 (2923); Naccarato's of Saugerties, 2015; Central Hudson No. 2 (2934) and Mac's Five, 2905.

Hot Shots Fizzle

Kodak Apparatus of Rochester, the highest average team of the weekend (1007) fizzled to a mediocre 2658 scratch at Sangi's Bowlero, they had only 21 pins handicap for a 2676 gross. Joe Lapa, the top bowler on the team with a 212 average, could garner only 508.

Mont Pleasant Lanes of Schenectady, a 978-average powerhouse, also found the going tough, rolling 2821 scratch and 2902 handicap. Harry Polomaine, a 213 average performer, rolled 627 off games of 179, 193, 255.

There were three triplicates recorded in the singles. David Nickolas of New Fame had a 157 trio; Victor Pugliese, Rome, 158; and Bob Rygielski, Utica, 130.

Al Sonnenberg, the tournament's public relation director, grossed 659 in the doubles with 596 net and 63 handicap and had 501-63-564 in the singles.

NICE GOING — Frank Beard, an honorary Kentucky Colonel, became King yesterday as he won the Tournament of Champions, putting together scores of 70-64-68-71 for a 15-under-par total of 273. His prize, like the replica he holds, $30,000. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Beard Is Runaway Winner

Players Petition To Retain 'Champs'

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Frank Beard had just picked up a $30,000 check, the second largest of his sparkling career, and was talking about his long-range goals in golf.

"Financial security for my wife and my family—and me," the soft-spoken, thoughtful perfectionist said Sunday. "I don't know how much money that is, or when it will come."

Then he smiled.

"Maybe it's a million dollars."

It's not as far-fetched as it sounds. Beard's impressive seven-stroke victory in the prestigious Tournament of Champions pushed his career earnings to more than $568,000. He now has more than $53,000 for the year and appears to be well on his way to his fourth consecutive $100,000 plus season.

And he's only 30.

Although he ranks seventh on the all-time leading money list, topped the money earnings last year and has won nine tour events, he's a relative unknown to the fans.

He's quiet and relatively colorless—but one of the most feared competitors on the tour.

"That man's unbelievable," said British Open champion Tony Jacklin, one of three tied for second behind Beard.

Frank bolted out to a six-stroke lead at the turn, changed his strategy and coasted into a seven-stroke victory, the largest margin of the year on the tour. He had a final 71, one-under-par on the La Costa Country Club course, for 273, 15-under-par.

Jacklin, two strokes back going into the final round, failed to set his clock for the change from standard to daylight time, didn't have time to take a single practice swing and struggled through the gusty winds with a 76 for 280.

He was tied at that figure with South African Gary Player, 71, and Masters champion Billy Casper, 72. Arnold Palmer was next with a 70 for 284. Orville Moody had a 70 for 284 and Jack Nicklaus was one of three at 286.

While the players were fighting the winds, tournament officials battled reports that the 1971 edition of this tournament—matching four winners of the previous 12 months—would be cancelled.

"The Tournament of Champions is 18 years old and as far as we are concerned it will go on for at least another 18 years," tournament chairman Allard Roen said.

"We have not been notified of any action to cancel our tournament by the tournament players division or its commissioner, Joe Dey."

But a petition appeared in the players' locker room and was signed by more than two dozen players, including Palmer, Moody, Player and Lee Trevino, which said, in part:

"We, the undersigned, petition the committee to reconsider their decision regarding cancellation of the tournament of champions."

There had been numerous other reports that the tournament would be canceled next year. Its contract expired this season.

Beard, however, was concerned only with Jacklin—and not long with him.

"I birdied eight and nine and Tony bogeyed one of them, which gave me a three-stroke turn around. That put me six strokes ahead and I seriously altered my game on the back nine," Beard said.

"I was shooting for the middle of the green, just trying for pars. That's the way I am. I figured if I par in—and pars aren't too hard to make—he has to shoot 30 to catch me. "Maybe it sounds silly to change your game at that time, but I think it's the other way around."

He was right. No one got close to him again. He parred eight of the last nine, three putting for a bogey on the 14th.

But it wasn't even close.

Geanuleas Fans 14 As KHS Wins, 6 to 1

POUGHKEEPSIE

George Geanuleas struck out 14 men and walked just one as the Maroons of Kingston High School exploded for five runs in the top of the eighth inning, breaking a 1-1 tie and defeating Our Lady of Lourdes, 6-1. The game was played Saturday at the Hudson River State Hospital Field in Poughkeepsie.

Kingston scored first off pitcher Vin O'Heron, who went seven innings, giving up one hit. Paul Watzka hit a long double in the top of the third and scored on a fielder's choice off the bat of Rick Sorenson.

The Warriors immediately tied the game in the bottom of that inning as Geanuleas was touched for their only marker. Rich Galletta started things off with a double and moved to third on a single by Mike Takacs. Takacs then attempted to steal second. The throw from the catcher went into centerfield, with Galletta coming in to score.

The Maroons rallied in the top of the eighth as O'Heron was lifted for a pinch hitter and Galletta came on to try and hold the visitors at bay. Three walks, and singles by Bill Brady, Sorenson and Rich Freese accounted for the five "icers."

Geanuleas looked good for the Maroons as he scattered but four hits, three of the infield variety in going the distance, settling down in the third stanza and getting his 14 k's. Galletta was given the loss, but he and O'Heron allowed only two hits between them, holding the visitors at bay.

Derby Field Is Shaping Up

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Time is the killing factor as hopes—and doubts—began building in earnest today as the world of thoroughbred racing focused its attention on Churchill Downs—the home of next Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

And there were more hopes and doubts than usual, with a field of 18 to 20 3-year-olds shaping up for the $100,000-added, 1 1/4-mile classic. If 18 start, it will be the biggest field since Tommy Lee defeated 16 rivals in 1959.

Support was solid for Raymond M. Curtis' My Dad George and Samuel J. Agnew's Terlagio after Curtis' Flamingo and Florida Derby winner defeated Agnew's Santa Anita Derby victor by a neck Saturday in the seven-furlong Stepping Stone Purse at the Downs.

But there was some doubt in the camp of George Lewis at the California Derby winner coughed a little as he returned to his barn after working a half mile in 48 seconds.

"I don't think it was anything serious," said owner Alan Magerman. "It could have been the same thing as we do when we cough to clear our throats in the morning."

Magerman also said trainer Buster Millerick has decided to send George Lewis in Tuesday's one-mile Derby Trial which hasn't produced a Derby winner since Tim Tam in 1958.

Things were also looking bright for John Jacobs who trains Personality and High Echelon for his mother, Ethel. Jacobs was delighted Sunday after Personality, the Wood Memorial winner, worked seven furlongs in 1:26 3/5 and galloped out a mile in 1:39 2/5 and High Echelon went a half in 51 1/5 and galloped out five furlongs in 1:03 1/5.

High Echelon also will go in the Derby Trial.

Another trainer who was pleased Sunday was Bowes Bond who conditions Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, the 1969 juvenile champion who has been disappointing this year but finished second in the Wood.

"That's a step in the right direction," Bond said after Silent Screen went 1 1/4 miles in 1:53 2/5.

Nets Take 3-2 Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The home cooking turned sour for the New York Nets—but, oh, that southern menu!

The Nets, rebounding from their worst home loss ever, knocked off Kentucky 127-112 at Louisville Sunday in the American Basketball Association play-offs.

New York now leads 3-2 the best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinals that resume in Louisville Tuesday.

In the Western Division Sunday night, Los Angeles dumped Dallas 124-123 to take their semifinal series, 4-2.

Billy Melchioni scored a game-high 39 points as the Nets rebounded from last Wednesday's 128-101 thumping by the Colonels in New York.

Kentucky led only once in the game, then for just a brief time in the second period. Kentucky went ahead 31-30 in the second stanza on a 12-foot shot by Louie Dampier, but then New York went out in front again on two free throws by Melchioni.

Then Billy The Kid combined with teammate Walt Simon for 22 points to give the Nets an insurmountable 80-64 lead. Simon scored 31 points in the game.

Gene Moore scored 29 points and Jim Ligon added 25 for the Colonels.

Craig Raymond led Los Angeles' victory, scoring a tip-in bucket with 43 seconds left, then blocking a shot by Dallas' Cincy Powell with 5 seconds on the clock.

Raymond's clutch basket pulled the Stars through in a game that produced 27 changes of lead and 17 ties, the last when Mack Calvin hit a free throw with 1:07 to play to knot it at 122.

After Dallas missed several opportunities to take the lead on misfired field goals, Raymond nudged in Merv Jackson's 20-foot toss for the winning shot.

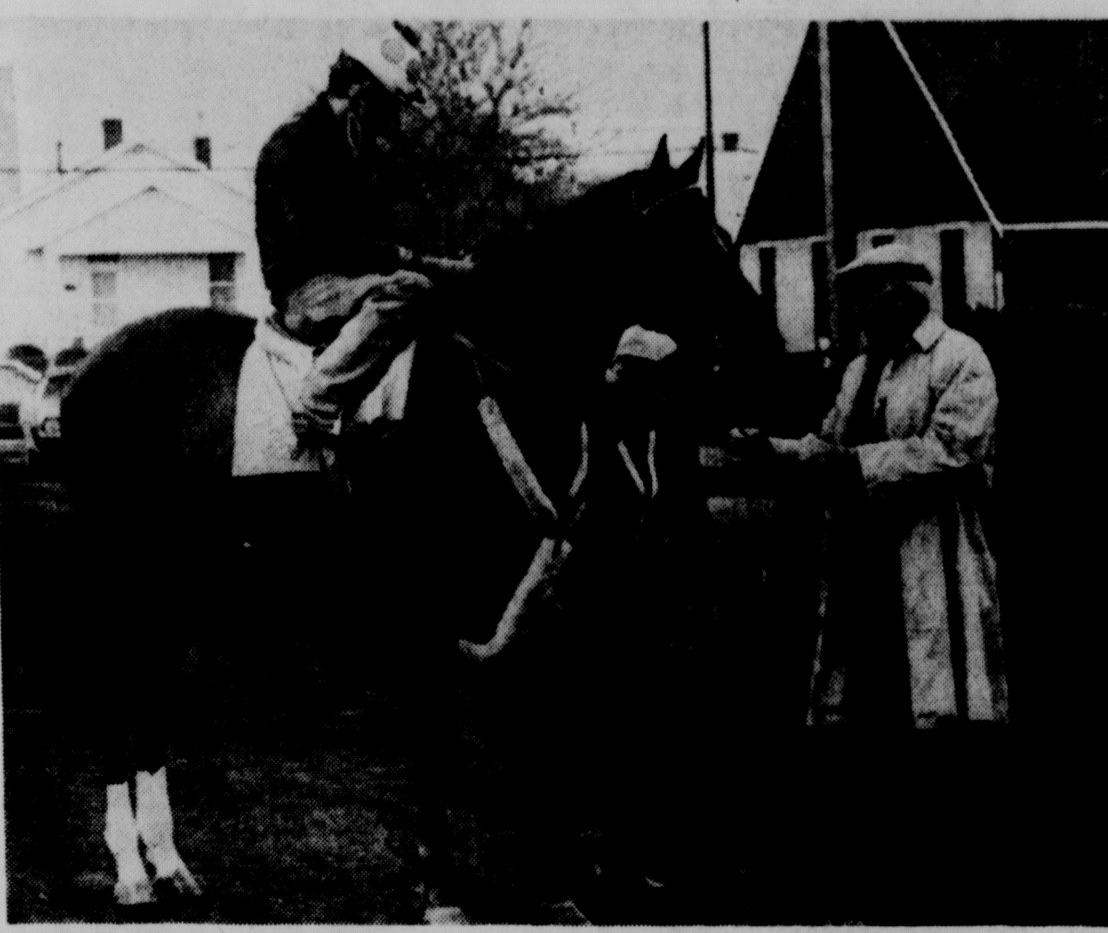

Powell sank a free throw seconds later, but missed a five-footer when Raymond deflected the ball and grabbed it as time ran out.

month to get ready, it would be something else. But I guess we'll probably be thrown out here after Tuesday (the Derby Trial)."

Also scheduled to go in the Derby Trial are the Wolfson brothers' Native Royalty and Gary's Corn Off The Cob, Mrs.

W. L. Brown's Fathom.

Other probabilities for the Derby, to be telecast and broadcast nationally by CBS, are Benjamin and Jones' Action Getter, Charles Windle's Casie Red, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Stables' Naskra and W. C. Robinson Jr.'s Admiral's Shield.

Arlington High Drubs Sawyers in DCSL, 16-8

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties High School's baseball team became the tenth victim of the season for the high-flying Arlington Admirals Saturday as the visitors scored a 16-8 win over the Sawyers in a Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section tilt.

Arlington defending DCSL champs, are now 4-0 in league play and 10-1 on the season.

Jim Cross did it all for Arlington, dringing in five runs on two doubles while Cal Rueping had four hits and two rbis, while picking up the win. Bill Ohno was the losing pitcher. Ted Morehead also had a fine day, collecting three hits, getting on base five times and scoring four runs.

Jeff Markle was outstanding for the Sawyers as he went three-for-four. Gerry Maglieri went two-for-four while Frank Petramale and Gary Silinovich doubled for the losers. Maglieri and Dee White had two ribbys apiece for Saugerties.

White Plains 'Y' Winner

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The

White Plains, N. Y., team tallied 447 points to easily win the first annual national YWCA swim meet here Sunday over 29 other teams.

Diane Daulieu, 17, of White Plains, won three individual events and was on three team events. She captured the 100-yard butterfly, 200-yard individual medley and the 500 free-style and was on the winning 400-yard medley relay and 400 and 800 freestyle relay teams in the three-day competition.

Ruby Cops 200-Miler At Trenton

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

There are 25 stars painted on the red, white and blue car Lloyd Ruby is driving on the USAC championship trail this year, and there's also a great big Apollo XII sign on the nose cone.

Why the stars? "We're patriotic," drawled the 43-year-old Wichita Falls, driver. "You'll also notice that six of the stars carry the names of big car races I've won. We hope to fill the remaining stars before the season is over."

Ruby filled one of the blank spaces Sunday when he drove the low-slung turbo-charged Offenhauser to victory in the $76,500 Trenton 200, knocking off such younger drivers as Mario Andretti; the Unser brothers, Al and Bobby; and Wally Dallenbach in the process.

Ruby picked up the Apollo XII designation with the blessings of moon astronauts Pete Conrad, Dick Gordon and Alan Bean. The three have no financial interest in the car but all will work at times in Ruby's crew during the month of May at Indianapolis. Conrad also is a licensed race driver.

The car is owned by Gene White, an Atlanta tire distributor, and sponsored by Denver businessman Bill Daniels. Daniels is a close friend of the Apollo 12 astronauts and, incidentally, of President Nixon.

"With all of these people behind me, all I have to do is drive the car," said Ruby. And drive he did at Trenton Sunday.

Biding his time while Andretti, Al Unser and Dallenbach fought a heated duel up front, Ruby didn't make his move until shortly after the halfway point over the kidney-shaped 1½-mile Trenton Fairgrounds Speedway. He sailed around leader Andretti on the 104th Circuit and drove the rest of the way without serious challenge.

Andretti came in second in his STP Hawk Ford, the car he used to capture both races at Trenton last year. Al Unser finished third, also in a Ford, while brother Bobby Unser came in fourth and Mike Mosley fifth.

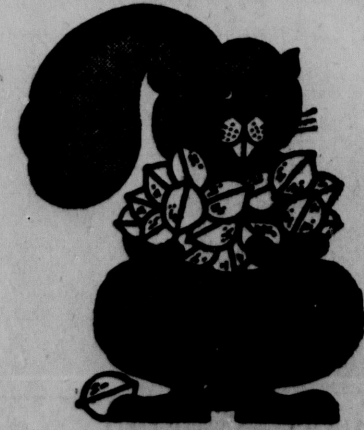

Ruby's speed for the race was 135.967 miles per hour and his share of the purse was about $14,000. It was his first victory since winning a 150-miler at Milwaukee in 1968.

Two other key auto races during the weekend were postponed because of bad weather.

The 250-mile event for NASCAR Grand National stock car drivers at Martinsville, Va., was rescheduled for next Sunday. Richard Petty's Plymouth will be on the pole.

The second race in the Trans-American series for small sporty cars Camaros, Javelins, Mustangs was rained out at Dallas. No new date was announced for it, but the sponsoring Sports Car Club of America said it probably will be in mid-summer.

UCCC Tossers Set Three Records in 25-1 Win

KINGSTON New Paltz State U. Frosh Saturday at Dietz Stadium. The new records announced by Coach Al DiBernardo are: 1) Rich Connors' 17 strikeouts in a 3-hit performance.

2) The 25 runs scored by the Senators, including nine in the first inning and eight in the sixth.

3) The total of 26 hits, four each by Larry Trippodo and Gary Schatzel.

Connors was staked to a 9-0 lead in the first inning and pitched shutout ball until the seventh inning when the Hawk Frosh picked up their lone run with two outs. Dennis Scott singled, advanced to second on an infield out and scored on a single by Ozol. Connors walked four and knocked in four runs with a double and infield out.

The victory squared the Senators' record at 3 wins and 3 losses.

Ulster sent 14 men to the plate in the 9-run first inning. Five hits and five bases on balls and

New Paltz mikes were the ingredients. The big blow was a bases-loaded double by Greg Rios. UCCC hiked its lead to 12-0 in the fourth, adding four runs on singles by Skip Lyons, Jerry Corrado, and Tim Ressler, Patrick's walk, a double by John Carter and sacrifice fly by Rios. Twelve men batted in the sixth, as Ulster picked up eight runs on seven hits. Patrick delivered a base-clearing double, along with six singles by Dennis Dorsey, Rios, Schatzel, Gary Abatelli, Ed Torroni and Rossner. The already inflated team and individual batting averages at UCCC were further fueled by the 26-hit barrage. Trippodo knocked in four runs with four singles in seven times at bat. Schatzel slammed a double and three singles and two RBI's. Rios knocked in two runs with a pair of doubles and a single and Rossner accounted for three RBIs on two singles. Ulster plays four home games this week, including arclighters with Bergen County (N.J.) Community College Tuesday; Rockland on Wednesday and Friday night with Nassau. All games are scheduled for 7 p. m. Queensborough of Brooklyn comes in for a 2 p. m. game on Saturday at Dietz.

Niekro Flirts With Record

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The butterfly that lives in Phil Niekro's knuckleball is back in business after taking an exasperating two-week vacation.

Niekro's knuckleball, normally one of the most puzzling pitches in the National League, was no mystery until Sunday when the Atlanta ace moved down Pittsburgh 2-0 on a two-hitter.

In his first four starts, Niekro and his flutterless flutterball had been racked for 30 hits, 11 home runs, a 7.78 earned run average and four straight losses. The butterfly, obviously, was out of town.

But everything fell in place for Niekro Sunday. He pitched hitless ball for 6 2/3 innings and completely baffled the powerful Pirates with his rested and rejuvenated knuckler dancing all over the place.

Elsewhere Sunday, New York topped Los Angeles 3-1, St. Louis dropped Cincinnati 4-1, Chicago whipped Houston 6-3, Philadelphia edged San Diego 3-2 and San Francisco split a doubleheader with Montreal, winning 11-1 before losing 3-2.

Although it had no trouble with the Pirates, Niekro's returning butterfly couldn't solve the Forbes Field no-hit jinx. No pitcher has ever achieved a hitless game in the 61-year history of the park which the Pirates will vacate next month for their new Riverfront Stadium. Niekro defied the jinx until a two-out error in the seventh gave Manny Sanguillen a swing and the catcher's single broke up the no-hit bid.

Tommy Aaron cracked four straight hits including a homer and double which accounted for both Braves runs.

Niekro missed his no-hitter but New York's Tom Seaver got his—a perfect one—if you don't mind your classics spread over two games.

Seaver, who had retired the last 16 batters in order—a record-breaking 10 on strikes—against San Diego last Wednesday, knocked off the first 11 Dodgers Sunday. That gave him 27 consecutive batters retired, the equivalent of a perfecto.

Bob Gibson throttled Cincinnati on five hits, striking out 15 for his strongest performance of the season as the Cards beat the Reds.

Gibson, knocked out in each of his first two starts, fanned six Reds in order over one stretch and Lou Brock's three singles led the St. Louis offense.

Ron Santo busted out of a slump with a grand slam homer and Billy Williams and Jim Hickman had solo shots leading the streaking Cubs past Houston.

Santo's sixth inning slam doubled his runs batted in total for the season and was the fourth of his career. Two outs later, Hickman connected.

The victory ran the Cubs' winning streak to 10 games—all at home. Chicago starts a road trip in Pittsburgh tonight.

The Giants destroyed Montreal with homers in the first game of their doubleheader, getting grand slams from Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz and bases empty shots by McCovey and Bobby Bonds.

Mike McCormick rode the heavy hitting to a three-hit victory.

Rookie Carl Morton earned his first major league victory for the Expos in the nightcap, with a double and triple by Mack Jones keying the Expo offense.

Jones tripled and scored on Rusty Staub's single in the first and doubled home what turned out to be Montreal's winning run in the fifth. Ken Henderson had a two-run homer for the Giants in the last two innings for his third save in as many games.

Pinch hitter Rick Joseph tripped home the tying run in the eighth inning and scored on Tony Taylor's pinch single, lifting the Phillies past the Padres. Dick Selma, working in relief of winner Chris Short, blanked San Diego in the last two innings for his third save in as many games.

Tiant Thrives in Minnesota

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The green, green grass of home did in Dean Chance and the Cleveland Indians Sunday but the Minnesota air seems to be working wonders for Luis Tiant.

Chance and Tiant were the key figures in a six-player swap between the Indians and Twins last winter. Both pitched well Sunday but came out on opposite ends of the won-lost spectrum.

Chance, 12, scattered nine hits in eight innings, walking two and striking out seven but the Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox 2-0, with the high grass at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium affecting two key infield hits.

Tiant, meanwhile, ran his record to 3-0—he was a dismal 9-10 a year ago—by shutting out the Detroit Tigers on three singles, 6-0. He also stroked a double and two singles, stole a base—third base, no less—and knocked in a run.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore made it 14 straight over Kansas City 10-9, California shaded Washington 3-2 and then traded Rick Reichardt and Aurelio Rodriguez to the Senators for Ken McMullen. Milwaukee tripped Boston 5-3 and the New York Yankees drubbed Oakland 8-3 for Mel Stottlemyre's first victory.

The White Sox nicked Chance for single runs in the second and third innings. The first scored on Joe Horlen's slow bouncer down the third base line which was allowed to roll and stayed fair. In the third, Luis Aparicio bunted safely down the third base line, took third on a double by Carlos May and scored on Buddy Bradford's sacrifice fly.

"There was nothing I could do about either one," said a disgruntled Graig Nettles, the Cleveland third baseman. "I was completely frustrated. I guess all I can do is play closer if they're going to keep the grass here as long as it is."

Gibson, knocked out in each of his first two starts, fanned six Reds in order over one stretch and Lou Brock's three singles led the St. Louis offense.

Ron Santo busted out of a slump with a grand slam homer and Billy Williams and Jim Hickman had solo shots leading the streaking Cubs past Houston.

Santo's sixth inning slam doubled his runs batted in total for the season and was the fourth of his career. Two outs later, Hickman connected.

The victory ran the Cubs' winning streak to 10 games—all at FLIRTING WITH HISTORY — Braves' Knuckleballer Phil Niekro pitched 7 and 2/3rd innings of no-hit ball at Forbes Field yesterday. Niekro, shown in the seventh stanza, ended with a two-hitter. Forbes is to be closed next month and in its 61-year history, has never yielded a no-hitter. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Fourth Win For Seaver

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Rookie Mike Jorgensen hit his first major league home run and Bud Harrelson stole home in the sixth inning Sunday to lead the New York Mets to a 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers as unbeaten Tom Seaver notched his fourth straight win.

Jorgensen's homer was off Dodger rookie starter Sandy Vance, who made his major league debut for Bill Singer, hospitalized with hepatitis.

Harrelson followed the homer with a single, stole second and advanced to third on an infield out. With Donn Clendenon at the plate, Harrelson dashed home with his third stolen base of the game.

Seaver, last year's Cy Young Award winner, retired the first 11 batters he faced to stretch his streak of consecutive outs to 27. With two out in the fourth, William Davis doubled and scored on Andy Kosco's double.

Seaver pitched a six-hitter and struck out six to give his 33 strikeouts over the last three games. In his previous appearance against San Diego, Seaver fanned 19.

The Mets snapped a streak of 30 scoreless innings in the second when Clendenon led off with a homer, his second of the season.

Seaver's homer was off Dodger rookie starter Sandy Vance, who made his major league debut for Bill Singer, hospitalized with hepatitis.

Harrelson followed the homer with a single, stole second and advanced to third on an infield out. With Donn Clendenon at the plate, Harrelson dashed home with his third stolen base of the game.

Seaver, last year's Cy Young Award winner, retired the first 11 batters he faced to stretch his streak of consecutive outs to 27. With two out in the fourth, William Davis doubled and scored on Andy Kosco's double.

Seaver pitched a six-hitter and struck out six to give his 33 strikeouts over the last three games. In his previous appearance against San Diego, Seaver fanned 19.

The Mets snapped a streak of 30 scoreless innings in the second when Clendenon led off with a homer, his second of the season.

Set Marks At Drake

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Every competitor came to the 61st annual Drake Relays here intent on setting new records, and when the track had cleared Saturday few were disappointed.

Never in the history of the Drake carnival has the weather, a one-year-old Tartan track, and the entries cooperated to produce such a record-breaking overall performance.

Tunnel '5' Takes Two

KINGSTON

Dunham Tunnel All-Stars won two games over Highland Training School recently to end another fine season for Coach Art Althiser. The Kingston team won the first game, 78-43, as Duane Carey poured in 27 points, Dan Mahoney hit 21 and Jeff Cammins drilled 15.

In the second tilt at Highland, the winners had a little trouble, but recovered in time to post a 90-62 victory. Carey had 37 points and 30 rebounds to pace the attack. Mahoney hit 26 and Keith Jones added 12.

Althiser's teams, Dunham Tunnel and Kingston All-Stars, had a combined record of 27-3 for the season. Althiser's coaching record is a lifetime mark of 160-72.

Duane Carey led the scorers for the season on the Tunnel team, while Vin Rua took the same honors for the All-Stars. Dan Mahoney was named as the Tunnel's Most Valuable Player by Coach Althiser, while Rua was picked for that distinction for the Stars.

Katrine Gunners Win Trap Shoot

ST. REMY

Members of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club hit 117 targets out of a possible 125 to win the Ulster County Circuit Trap Shoot at their own range Sunday. Saugerties Fish and Game, winners in the first two weeks of competition, took second with a 115, while Wawarsing and Walker Valley (1) tied for third at 110.

Walker Valley (2) finished fourth with an 89.

Stu Miller, Bob Schmedake and Bob Carlson hit 24 to pace the win, while Bill Costello hit a 23 and Herb Zaccaro a 22. In the senior division, the leaders were: Bob Sperl, Saugerties 980-25 straight; Phil Moore, Wawarsing, 960, 25 straight; Bob Schmedake 960; Larry VanWagner, Wawarsing, 944, 25 straight; Harry Smith, Ridge Runners, 940, 25 straight; Eugene Smith, Wawarsing, 937, 25 straight; Tom Grossi, Walker Valley, 933; Dan Link, Walker Valley, 930.

Junior shooters: Wayne Ward, Lake Katrine 790; Bill Wolven, Saugerties, 600; Ed Hillje, Saugerties 500; Vin Zaccaro, Lake Katrine 400.

The circuit continues Sunday, May 3, at the Walker Valley Sportsmen Association. Competition will start at 12 noon.

In all, 11 records were set and two tied in the college division—including one world and two National Collegiate and American records—and three new Drake marks were posted in federation events.

Rockie Woods, a swift hurdler-sprinter who led Texas A&M to three baton titles, including a world record 880-yard relay, was voted the outstanding athlete of the Drake classic.

Texas A&M with Woods, Donny Rogers, Marvin and Curtis Mills, set a world, American, National Collegiate and meet record of 1:21.7 in the 880-yard relay, bettering the old American and world mark of 1:22.1 set by San Jose State in 1967.

Scott Hendricks replaced Rogers on the Texas A&M baton quartet that set a relay record of 40 seconds flat in the 440-yard relay.

Ralph Mann of Brigham Young set an American, National Collegiate and Drake record in the 440-yard hurdles by scissoring through the course in 49.4 seconds.

Kansas State posted a record mark of 7:16.3 in the two-mile relay with Dave Alexander, Dave Peterson, Bob Barratti and Ken Swanson running. Steve Danforth, Rich Breeze, Sid Sink and Dave Wottle made up the Bowling Green relay team that posted a record 16:26.4 in the four-mile relay.

Australian Rex Maddaford, running for Eastern New Mexico, posted a 4:01.4 meet record in the mile run.

The only other record set in university and college running events was a 3:54.6 time in the 3,000-meter steeplechase posted by Jerome Liebenberg of Western Michigan.

In field events, Doug Knop of Kansas set a 203.1 record in the discus throw. Steve DeAunt of Oregon State posted a 205.9 record in the hammer throw, and Ray McGill of Kansas State rewrote the high jump record with a leap of 7-1.

The two record ties came when Mel Gray of Missouri successfully defended his Drake 100-yard championship and made it a grand slam of the event in the Texas, Kansas and Drake relays with a blazing 9.2 second dash and Thomas Hill of Arkansas State cleared the 120-yard hurdles in 13.6 seconds.

OCS Slates Picnic

BOICEVILLE

The Ontario High School Booster Club is planning a chicken barbecue for members of the winter and spring athletic teams and their families. The event will honor members of the basketball, baseball, ski, wrestling, tennis, golf, track and cheer leading squads.

The recently formed club, this past season, has sponsored a banquet for the football team in addition to an award program for winter sports, giving a $50 donation to the American Field Service program.

A special meeting is planned for April 30, 7:30 p. m. at the Central Building in Boiceville to complete arrangements for the event. All interested parents are asked to attend and exchange ideas. Final plans will then be announced.

Reed Set For Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willis Reed, the National Basketball Association's most valuable player this season, will be available for action Monday night when the New York Knicks meet the Los Angeles Lakers in the second game of their best-of-seven championship series.

The big question is how effective will he be?

Reed was the key man in the Knicks' opening game 124-112 victory over the Lakers Friday night. He injured his left shoulder dunking a basket against the Lakers' Hap Hairston in the second quarter and went on to score 37 points and grab 16 rebounds.

Reed, a left-hander, said his left shoulder began to tighten during the third quarter and was stiff after the game. He underwent heat treatment Sunday and his condition could be the key to the series.

Reed took advantage of the immobility of Wilt Chamberlain, the Laker center still bothered by a knee injury, to spark the Knicks Friday night. A former forward, Reed moved to the outside and hit consistently throughout the first half on 15-foot jump shots as Chamberlain's immobile knee forced him to remain under the basket.

"I don't think Wilt is moving the way he should," said Reed. "The knee seems to be still bothering him. I couldn't understand his style against us. He just wasn't reacting to situations the way he has in the past. Maybe he didn't think I'd take those shots from out there. I just went out and took them anyway."

Reed's play has been a decisive factor throughout the playoffs.

He outbatted Wes Unseld of the Bulls as the Knicks beat Baltimore in seven games and handled Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee as the Knicks won that series in five.

Should Reed prove ineffective against the Lakers Monday night, New York Coach Red Holzman can use either Nate Bowman or Bill Hosket as a replacement. Bowman has the height—6-foot-11—to handle Chamberlain but is prone to foul problems. Hosket is only 6-8 but is a better than average shooter.

The Lakers, who must win once in New York, are faced with negating the Knicks' depth. Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, long-time NBA stars, brought the Lakers back from a 20-point deficit Friday night but were exhausted in the process.

That's when Knick reserves Cazzie Russell and Mike Riordan moved in to pull the game out of reach.

The third and fourth games of the series will be played Wednesday and Friday in Los Angeles with a fifth game, if necessary, scheduled for Monday night in New York.

HARDY CONGRATS — Stan Mikita (21) Chicago skates away from entire Bruins team which engulfed John McKenzie (19) after they emptied bench and poured onto the ice after McKenzie scored the game-winning goal, giving the Boston team a shocking four-game sweep of the Black Hawks in Stanley Cup Eastern Division finals. Boston gained the 5-4 win yesterday at the Garden. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Bruins Near Promised Land

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins have kicked the Chicago Black Hawks into Never-Never Land... and crossed the threshold toward the Promised Land.

"We've opened the door and the next thing we have to do is go through it," said Boston's Eddie Westfall after the Bruins' Stanley Cup Playoffs 5-4 Sunday.

The victory gave the Bruins a four-game sweep in the best-of-seven Eastern Division finals and shot them into the championship series against the West Division winner. Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis' tounding sweep of the regular 21 Sunday to tie their best-of-7 West set at 2-2.

Westfall, who checked Chicago star Bobby Hull, summed up the feelings of his Boston teammates with this remark:

"They've just opened the door in a bid for the club's first Stanley Cup championship in 29 years."

"We're going to meet the best in the other division," he added. "We're certainly the best in ours. We're going to be ready, whether it's St. Louis or Pittsburgh."

Coach Harry Siden of Boston pointed out two items which helped the Bruins to their as-season East winners—the checking of Hull and Stan Mikita.

While Westfall was doing his defensive job, John McKenzie was the offensive stickout for the Bruins. His goal at 18:19 of the third period—when everybody in the Boston Garden was thinking overtime—was the winning margin.

Frustrated most of the way by Tony Esposito's brilliant goaltending, the Bruins refused to fold.

Brian Campbell had given Chicago a 4-3 lead with a goal at 4:10 of the final period. The Bruins buzzed around the Chicago net but were unable to crack Esposito's stout defending.

Ken Hodges finally broke the period of frustration with a tying goal at 13:19 and McKenzie then intercepted a Chicago pass just inside the blue line and shoved in the clinching shot.

Michele Briere, for the second playoff game in a row, scored one goal and assisted on another to help Pittsburgh turn back St. Louis.

With the game tied 1-1 in the second period, the rookie scored his fourth goal of the series on a breakaway, the shot going between the legs of St. Louis goalie Ernie Wakely.

Duane Rupp had given the Penguins a 1-0 lead at 7:06 of the first period on a 40-foot shot. The Blues tied the score five minutes into the second period on Andre Boudrias' goal.

Wakely kept the Blues in the game with a tough goaltending performance stopping at least three breakaway shots.

The fifth game of the series will be played Tuesday night in St. Louis.

Maritime Tossers Top New Paltz Hawks, 5-3

NEW PALTZ

Joe Scanalist blasted a triple in the eighth inning to give visiting New York Maritime Academy a 5-3 victory over New Paltz State in a non-league tilt Saturday. The Hawks are now 0-5 on the season.

Big Bob Lillis started things off for the winners in the eighth, as he doubled and scampered home on Scanalist's belt. Ed Bontemps then doubled to score Scanalist, as the Marines jammed three of their four extra base hits into the inning.

The winners collected 11 hits off Tom Williams, former Rondout Valley Central pitcher, who allowed two of the first three Maritime runs to come across on wild pitches in the first inning. Williams walked seven and struck out three. Al Pesca, the Maritime pitcher, blanked New Paltz after the locals had tied the score 3-3 in the third inning. Pesca struck out six and walked two.

The Hawks scored in the second inning on a single by Jim Clinton, who drove Williams home.

New Paltz picked up its final two runs in the bottom of the third inning to tie the score at 3-3. Neil Feltinghoff, the second baseman, singled, Charlie Silverberg was safe on an error and Jim DeRosa walked to load the bases. Keith McLeod then unloaded a single chasing Feltinghoff and Silverberg across the plate.

Feltinghoff collected two hits for the Hawks, while four Maritime swingers had a pair-Molenaus, Scanalati, Bontemps and Lillis.

The Hawks are scheduled to meet powerful Albany State Tuesday at 3 p.m. in Albany. Then are at Plattsburgh State on May 1.

Cagle Wins Stock Race

MIDDLETOWN

Will Cagle hung on to beat back a steady challenge from Pee Wee Griffin Saturday night to take his second feature in a row in the modified division at the Orange County Fair Speedway.

Trade Reichardt And McMullen

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The California Angels traded their one-time bonus boy outfielder Rick Reichardt and infielder Aurelio Rodriguez to the Washington Senators Sunday for third baseman Ken McMullen.

The trade was announced in a joint news conference by the two club managers. Lefty Phillips of the Angels and Ted Williams of the Senators immediately after California beat Washington 3-2.

Reichardt, 27, was signed for $175,000 off the University of Wisconsin campus in 1964. Although he has never lived up to expectations, he has hit 63 career home runs and has a lifetime average of .261.

His best home run year was in 1968 when he hit 21. Reichardt led the Angels last season in homers with 13 and runs batted in with 68.

Rodriguez, a native of Mexico, is 22 and is known as a good fielder.

In 1969, he led American League third basemen in double plays with 42 and was second only to Baltimore's Brooks Robinson in assists.

McMullen, who will be 28 on June 1, came to Washington in 1965 in a trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers which also brought Frank Howard to the club.

He has hit 92 homers in his career and compiled a .250 lifetime batting average going into this season.

He was originally signed for the Dodgers by Phillips, his new manager.

Cagle has won the point championship at the Fair Speedway for two years in a row and his two straight thus far gives him an early lead in that department.

The champ started 16th and took the lead at the 12th lap in the 24-car, 30-lap feature, staying in front despite Griffin's chase. Pee Wee posted his biggest threat in the 20th lap when he seemed about ready to pass the leader after trailing by no more than two lengths.

Cagle sensed what was happening and swerved outside to pass two lapped cars, taking a bigger lead and trapping Griffin behind them, after Pee Wee waited about five seconds too late to make his move.

Both drivers had to go through some tricky maneuvers to avoid a 10-car pileup in the third lap. The mass accident forced out some of the better drivers, including Budd Olsen and Al Tasnady.

Rich Eurich fully recovered from injuries suffered the first week, taking his initial victory in the Limited Sportsmen's Class. Defending champion George Kueck also won his second straight victory in the Semi-Late Model division.

The summaries:

MODIFIED—1st heat: Cagle, VanHorn, Basraillian. 2nd: Olsen, Evans, Manchester. 3rd: Bottcher, Theil, George. Con: Mann, Hallock, Griffin. Feature: Cagle, Griffin, Carter.

LIMITED SPORTSMEN: 1st heat: Davis, Sherman, Mesach. 2nd: Penning, Walker, Nott. 3rd: Marcello, Hantson, DeGroodt. Consl: Yoeman, Amerman, DeYoung. Feature: Eurich, Marcello, Wilson.

St. Joseph's Is No. 1 in Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE

St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia took an early lead and gained an easy victory in the President's Cup Regatta, hosted by Marist College on the Hudson River Saturday. The Hawks were the defending champs and were clocked in 6:09.1 over the 2000-meter course.

Temple University, also of Philly, finished a good second in the race, posting a time of 6:17, however, the powerful St. Joseph's squad was an easy winner by at least three boat-lengths open water.

The first and second place finishers started the race at a high 40 strokes per minute and then settled to a 37 power-stroke. Near the finish, the winners upped their count to a fast 40, while the best Temple could do was a 39, but, by then, the outcome of the race was resolved.

Marist's Junior Varsity, with Kingston's Paul Olen rowing in the five position, and the Freshmen squads remain undefeated for the season, taking each of the other divisions.

The Red Fox varsity shell withstood a strong sprint by Worcester Polytechnical Institute to finish third. It was the first race of the season that the Red Foxes' varsity didn't come home a winner. Marist posted a time of 6:18.5. Worcester beat out Iona and Villanova for the fourth spot.

The JV race was easily the most exciting as the host-eight edged St. Joseph's by half a boat length in 6:47.7. St. Joe's finished in 6:47.7.

The powerful Marist freshmen, winners over everyone this season, including Syracuse, Columbia and Yale Universities, scored an easy victory over St. Joe's, and the rest of the field in 7:16. St. Joe's edged the Marist second boat for third, with Villanova and Worcester finishing behind.

Temple defeated Fordham and Marist in the new, four-oared shell event, crossing the finish line in 7:45 to Fordham's 7:59 and Marist's 8:16. It is the first season for four-man racing at the East Bank College.

State Keglers Roll Top Scores In ABC Tourney

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three New York State bowlers have rolled top scores in the American Bowling Congress Tournament here Sunday.

Gus Lampo and Casimir Nezelek of Endicott finished second in the classic doubles with a 1,297 score behind Bill Dettmar and Bill Bauer of Philadelphia at 1,319.

Lampo's 1,929 gave him second place in the classic all events ratings behind Ed Dolfay of Seattle who had a 2,013 total.

Art Cornelius Jr. of Syracuse rolled a 716 for third in the regular singles.

WARDS RIVERSIDE 4-SQUARE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

GUARANTEED AGAINST FAILURE due to road hazards (except repairable punctures) or from defects in materials or workmanship for the life of the original tread. In case of failure, Wards will exchange tire for a new one, charging only that portion of the current regular price (plus Federal Excise Tax) equivalent to the percent of tread used.

GUARANTEED AGAINST TREAD WEAROUT for months specified or for miles specified. In case tread wears out, Wards will exchange tire for a new one, charging only the difference between the current regular price (plus Federal Excise Tax) and a specific dollar allowance. (Tread wear guarantee does not apply to tires used commercially).

NATIONWIDE SERVICE. Guarantee honored at any Wards Retail or Catalog store upon presentation of guarantee card.

Dear Abby

'Chick' Kills Goose?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for some time, and for the last year have been taking a divorcee to nice places for dinner, to good shows, and to some nice parties.

Recently, I invited her to a large formal affair. She told me she would go if I would buy her a new formal dress with shoes and purse to match, and agree to pay to have her hair done.

Is that the way it's being done these days?

CONFUSED: Only by that state of undress.

those who are willing to go for it. If the lady didn't have a presentable dress for the occasion, she'd have been ahead to borrow one. Alas, another ambitious chick who may have killed the goose that laid the golden eggs!

DEAR ABBY: The woman whose husband came to the table bare-chested prompted me to write to you.

Bob and I had been married about two years when he developed the habit of coming home from the office, stripping except for his undershorts, and coming to the dinner table in that state of undress.

I begged him to at least wear a robe, but he refused. Then I decided to cure him once and for all.

I took a large mixing bowl and combined flour, eggs, honey, leftover baked beans, molasses — anything I happened to have around. When my husband sat down for dinner, I told him I had a "surprise" for him. Then I let him have it! I dumped this mixture down his bare chest.

He didn't talk to me for two days (that's how long it took him to get the honey and molasses out of the hair on his chest).

I know it was a hateful thing to do, but he never came to the table without a shirt and pants on again.

BOB'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: That must have been an enormous sacrifice. No man makes a habit of displaying the body beautiful unless he's convinced that he looks great that way.

I then proceeded to peel off my blouse, slip, and bra.

He just sat there for a while and finally said, "Okay, if you'll put your clothes back on, so will I." And so we did. And to this day he has never again come to the table without a shirt. We get a good laugh now when we remember how I broke him of a very repulsive habit.

CHRISTINE FROM LOCKPORT, ILL.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, soon after we were married, started to eat his dinner without a shirt on. He didn't wear a "t" shirt or anything underneath, so I was supposed to just look at that bare chest.

I asked him nicely to please put his shirt on, but he refused. Then I told him if I was going to serve a TOPLESS man, he would have to look at a BOTTOMLESS waitress, and I started to undress. Naturally, I didn't get very far. That settled it.

"DIDI"

DEAR ABBY: I suggest that "BOTHERED," whose husband comes to the dinner table bare-chested, try what I did to mine 19 years ago.

When we were first married, For a personal reply enclose my husband started coming to the table bare from the waist up. I asked him to please put a shirt on for dinner but he said, "I always did this at home and I don't intend to change."

So I said, "Well, if you can eat half naked, so can I," and

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PUT AWAY: (Q.) My boy friend got into bad trouble at school and was afraid to go home. He went to the bank and drew out $600 from his father's account. Then he took a plane to Los Angeles. The cops picked him up at the airport there and sent him back.

My parents ordered me to have no contact with him. His father grounded him. He couldn't see or talk to anyone or watch TV for a month.

He slit his arm with a razor blade—24 stitches worth. His father had him put in a state hospital. He calls me every day from a phone booth there. He sends me letters at my girl friend's house. We are too much in love to break up. He is 15 and I'm 14. Could you give us some advice? —Forbidden in Rhode Island.

(A.) He got into trouble by breaking the rules. Now you are breaking them. If you really want to help him, encourage him to abide by the rules. This means taking your licks for what has already happened and starting out clean.

Tell your parents you want to do this and want their help. Ask them to go with you to visit him and tell him of your decision. It won't be easy for him or for you. If he won't or can't try to climb back up, don't hang on and let him drag you down.

ANTI-BRA: (Q.) My best friend has a great shape, but she won't wear a bra. I tell her she'll have sagging breasts someday but she says if she exercises she won't. Who is right? —Bra-Wearer in California

(A.) There's no sure way to know if breasts will sag until they start doing so. When they do, it's too late.

Tell your friend she can get bras and other underthings so light now that she'll hardly know she has them on. But she will look a lot better in her clothes.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Quick Quiz

Q — Does the moon have weather?

A — No. Because of the lack of atmosphere there can be no rain, snow, clouds or wind.

Q — Where is the world's most crowded rail system?

A — It is the Tokyo service of the Japanese National Railways, which carries about 4.2 million passengers a day. Professional pushers are employed to squeeze in passengers before the doors can be closed.

Q — Which element was discovered outside the earth's atmosphere?

A — Helium, evidence of which was discovered in the sun in 1868. It was first found on the earth in 1895.

Q — How can the age of a fish be determined?

A — By counting the annuli

(winter rings) on the scales, much as the age of some trees can be told by counting the growth rings.

Q — How was the Garden of Eden watered?

A — The Book of Genesis states four rivers watered Eden — the Havilah, Cihon, Hiddekel and Euphrates.

Q — How many times will Jan. 20, Inauguration Day, fall on Sunday during the next century?

A — Only four times in the next 100 years—in 1985, 2013, 2041 and 2069.

Q — How do marionettes differ from other puppets?

A — Puppets are worked by rods and held over the hand and fingers; string puppets are called marionettes.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Until late afternoon you are able to complete plans to get your affairs in order. This can bring you a considerable amount of success through your organizing ability. Be careful you do not take chances that could prove costly to you this evening.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go ahead with those ambitions you have and get in touch with important persons who can help you to achieve them. Safeguard your good name in the afternoon. Show that you are a good citizen.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Show that you have the right background to solve problems correctly and reach the goals you have. Don't disappoint those who admire you. The evening is a good time for relaxing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Pay bills and make collections in the morning. Then take it easy in the evening. A loved one is in a good mood during the day, but don't start an argument in the evening. Be happy and contented.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Begin the week properly by meeting with associates and finding out what is expected of you. Cement better relations. Show that you have a fine conciliatory attitude.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to clear up chores, so get busy early and finish them quickly. Check your wardrobe and update it where necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your spare moments should be spent in having fun with friends you like. Get those creative talents before the right people. Show that you are a superior person in many ways.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use intelligence in the handling of family affairs as only is possible to a practical Libra. Fundamental affairs need additional attention. Try not to handle too many things at one time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) This is an ideal day to re-evaluate your work and make the necessary changes so that higher-ups are pleased. Make

Raquel and Not So Special

NEW YORK (AP)—Television viewers were offered a varied menu of special programs over the weekend. At one end was Raquel Welch's first television special, on CBS Sunday night and at the other was Saturday night's NBC "White Paper," a moving report on mental illness among adolescents.

"Cry Help," as the 90-minute NBC program was called, was filmed primarily in a California mental hospital where a few of the young patients were selected for special, intensive therapy. The TV program concentrated on two patients, a shy girl drawn into her own world of fantasy, and an aggressive girl, Debbie, who directed hostility at herself as well as her family.

In the therapy sessions, the patients talked about their fears and angers. Particularly revealing were the parents of the patients, talking with painful frankness of their perplexity and feeling of helplessness in dealing with the children.

By program's end, marked improvement in the patients' conditions could be seen, although complete recovery was not insured. The program reported that millions of American children are beset by emotional problems and only a few are receiving psychiatric help.

It was a big subject to tackle in a relatively short program, and could only shed a little light, but it was done with intelligence and sympathy.

Bridge

Luxury Finesse Proves Expensive

By Oswald & James Jacoby.

Jim: "The finesse is a bridge play in which you attempt to use a smaller card in an advantageous position to win a trick cheaply. I guess every bridge player learns to finesse as soon as he starts to play."

Oswald: "He isn't a bridge player until he learns. But he isn't a real bridge player until he learns there are plenty of times to refuse to finesse."

Jim: "One of the best times to refuse to finesse is when success won't really help you and failure may cost you your contract."

Oswald: "South wasted no time in blowing game and rubber. He went right up with dummy's ace of diamonds and led the queen of clubs for a finesse. The finesse appeared to work beautifully as West played low. The jack of clubs was led next and again South let it ride."

Jim: "All that glitters is not gold and all finessses that work the first time don't always work the next go-around. This time West produced the king. If West had led a second diamond everything would have turned out well for South but West placed the king of spades on the table. South ducked but West continued with the queen of spades. That was ducked also, whereupon a third spade

"Raquel" was one of those overproduced, overcostumed and overloud productions, apparently designed to further enlarge Miss Welch's image as sex-symbol and movie star. The larger-than-life lady appeared before such larger-than-life monuments as the Mayan ruins in Mexico, the Cathedral of Notre Dame and an ancient English castle. She dressed as a lady of Camelot, a Parisian gamine and done as camp. In that case, it apparently a human sacrifice in an old Mexican ritual. There

Six Americans Killed in Two Battles

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military headquarters today reported the loss of a four-engine C130 gunship in the most costly single incident of the six-year-old air war over Laos. Six Americans were killed and four are missing.

The AC130 gunship crashed last Wednesday after it was hit by groundfire over the Laotian lower panhandle. The announcement of the loss was delayed during a search for the missing crewmen.

One injured crewman was rescued with minor injuries, said it was costliest single aircraft loss since the United States began flying combat missions over Laos in 1964. The Air Force said B52s and fighter-bombers flew new raids against North Vietnam today against North Vietnamese troops who encircle the Green Beret camp at Dak Seang, 290 miles northeast of Saigon.

Guerrilla troops around the camp shot down a U.S. helicopter near Dak Seang Sunday, killing all four crewmen. It was the 13th U.S. aircraft lost since the siege of Dak Seang began April 1. Military sources predicted a new high point in the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese spring offensive this weekend to coincide with the worldwide Communist May Day. They suggested the attacks would be concentrated in cities.

Field reports said six Americans were killed and 27 moderate damage reported to the outpost.

Spokesmen said the attackers preceded the ground assault with 25 rocket grenades and 82mm mortar rounds, then charged through the barbed wire, tossing bundles of explosives into bunkers.

The American defenders used artillery and enlisted the help of helicopter gunships in driving off the attackers, who were said to have left behind one body.

Another fight saw troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division attack a guerrilla unit in bunkers near An Loc, 55 miles north-northwest of Saigon. The Americans killed three guerrillas at a cost of two GIs dead and 15 wounded.

ITALIAN AIR DISASTER—Air Force officers stand beside covered corpse after Italian Air Force transport plane carrying 21 men crashed and burned shortly after takeoff from a military airport near Udine, Italy. Authorities said at least 18 men died. Two other men were reported in grave condition, and one man was missing. In background is wreckage of twin-engine plane. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

GIs in Europe—Years Fewest in 20

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has trimmed its forces in Europe to about 300,000 men, the lowest level in 20 years, according to new Pentagon figures.

This is 10,000 below the last official figure and the smallest American force in Europe since 1950 when it stood at 145,000 men.

The newest reductions resulted from streamlining of support and administrative personnel, not by trimming combat strength, Pentagon authorities said.

The drop from 310,000 to 300,000 occurred over a span of months and followed similar cutbacks aimed at saving money and reducing the gold flow.

The last U.S. reduction of combat elements in Europe was in 1968 when two Army brigades and some other units were brought back, although these units technically remain earmarked for NATO.

The United States has pledged not to remove any more combat forces from Europe through mid-1971. And there are indications any withdrawals after that time will be held to a relatively small number.

Although the Nixon administration is headed on a new foreign policy course designed to minimize American overseas commitments, there appears to be substantial sentiment among both civilian and military leaders to maintain the American military presence in Europe at as high a level as possible.

Army leaders are known to be in a mood to fight any substantial trimming of combat elements in Europe, believing their forces facing the Iron Curtain are close to the lowest level consistent with an ability to hold back any significant Communist thrust long enough to allow help to reach Europe from the United States and for NATO countries to mobilize.

The generals place small faith in forces based in the United States for immediate use in an emergency situation in Europe. They claim that forces present on the line are the only ones that count in such a situation.

Nixon for Voting Age Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon plans to tell the House this week to scrap legislation, already passed by the Senate, that would lower the voting age to 18.

Nixon favors a lower voting age, aides said, but he wants it accomplished through a constitutional amendment. The attempt to set the age at 18 by passing a law has been challenged by some who say it would be unconstitutional.

If the courts ruled such a law unconstitutional after an election had been held, the race might have to be rerun or recounted to eliminate the ineligible voters.

The Constitution does not specify a voting age, and states have made their own, and differing, laws on the subject. The attempt to set 18 as the nationwide voting age passed the Senate in the form of a amendment to an extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

A constitutional amendment would have to be passed by both houses and ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Guatemala Laborite Found Shot to Death

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI)—The body of a kidnapped Guatemalan labor leader was found south of Guatemala City Sunday, a bullet in his head and a note pinned to his pajamas condemning his travels to Cuba and the Soviet Union.

Police said the murder of Francisco Barreno, 40, was found on a roadway five miles south of Guatemala City a few hours after the safe release of a kidnapped businessman, Rudy Weisenberg Martinez, 62, for $250,000 ransom. His abductors were no identified.

'Papa Doc' Anxious

PORT AU PRINCE (UPI)—President Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier has asked for the return to Haiti of the mutinous coast guard crews who shelled his palace and now have sought asylum in the United States.

A diplomat in the Haitian capital predicted the leaders would be executed if turned back to Port au Prince.

Duvalier told a national radio audience Sunday night the shelling of the capital by three coast guard vessels Friday and Saturday was part of a Communist plot to overthrow him. He named the coast guard commander, Col. Octave Caillard, as its mastermind.
